POLES MENACE RUSSIA BURCH DENIES MURDER CONFESSION C. of C. DRIVE GAINS 36 NEW MEMBERS

Failure to Execute Terms of Treaty Alleged—May Rupture
Diplomatic Relations and Close Russo-Polish Frontier to Soviet—Is Preparing to Send Note

Paris, Sept. 13.—Claiming that the Moscow soviet has not executed the terms of the Russo-Polish treaty, the Polish government is preparing to send a note to Russia threatening to break off diplomatic relations and to close the Russo-Polish frontier, according to a Warsaw dispatch today.

JUNIORS OF MUSIC CLUB REHEARSE

The initial rehearsal of the chorus recently organized in the Glendale Junior Music Club and of the orchestra, which slightly antedated it in organization, took place last night in the music room of Glendale high school, Mrs. Charles A. Parker conducting the chorus and Forest Jordan the orchestra.

Mrs. Parker reports response and enthusiasm which promise fine chorus work in the near future, and the orchestra is equally promising.

As the chorus has an enrollment of 30 and the orchestra of 19, the next rehearsal, on Monday, the 19th, will probably take place in the high school auditorium, says Miss Veda Knapp, president of the club.

The club was asked to provide ushers for the production of "In a Persian Garden" in Verdugo Woodlands next Saturday night and consented to do so. Whether they will be specially costumed or not has not yet been decided.

Miss Knapp made a great impression at a conference of presidents of music clubs called by Mrs. Bessie Bartlett Frankel at the headquarters of the City Club last week, when she was called upon for some account of the work and plans of the Junior Club. Charles Wakefield Cadman, who was present, and who has been a kind of godfather of the Glendale juniors, was very proud of her response and the showing she made, which has stimulated other clubs represented there to organize junior auxiliaries.

STOLEN BUICK LOCATED

A Buick roadster, stolen from E. A. Fisher, 123 West Seventh street, Los Angeles, has been located at Roak's Garage on Brand boulevard near Park avenue.

According to a statement by the proprietor of the garage, the machine was left at the garage last week by a young man, who ordered some repairs made on it. Since leaving the machine at the garage, the man has returned twice to see if the work had been completed. On each of the return visits the man was accompanied by a girl.

JUDGE SITS IN

(By International News Service)
ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 13.—Judge Andy Calhoun, of the local police court, became acquainted with the "toddle top" when eight young men were arraigned before him on charges of gaming. He took the top and examined the metallic hexagonal closely, gazing at the symbols thereon. "P1, T2, P3, T3" he read aloud as he turned the top in his hand. The eight young men watched him closely as he then twisted the top for a spin on his desk. When it stopped spinning and fell the star looked up at him. "What does that mean?" he queried.

"That means 'take all,'" someone answered. "Twenty-five and costs," he smiled back and called the next case.

OLIVER IS PUZZLED
Reposing on the desk of Business Manager Irving H. Oliver of the high school is a good-sized bristle scrubbing brush, addressed on the back to Glendale High, and well plastered with stamps. It came through the mails entirely unwrapped. Mr. Oliver says he doesn't know whether it is intended for the freshmen or whether it is a hint for him to brush up.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC TAKES UP C. OF C. CONTENTION

The regular weekly meeting of the board of directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce was held at noon today.

One of the most important things to come before the meeting was in connection with the railroad problem. Several weeks ago a special railroad committee was appointed to see what could be done in the way of getting the Southern Pacific Company to stop its trains in Glendale. In connection with this matter a letter was sent several days ago by Secretary Rhoades to F. S. McGinnis, passenger agent of the Southern Pacific Company, and in answer to his communication the following was received:

"I will be very glad to meet with your committee at any time after this week. If you will drop me a line letting me know the day you will call I will arrange to be in the office or, if you prefer, I can come to Glendale and meet with your committee."

Another question that came before the meeting was that of securing a booth and furnishing entertainment for Glendale day at the San Fernando Valley Fair, which will be next Tuesday.

A communication was read from the managing director of the Atascadero Chamber of Commerce, asking for photographs of Glendale for use in the creating of a large model of Southern California, which work is going on at this time at Atascadero.

Thirty-six applications for membership to the chamber were presented by Secretary Rhoades and, on motion, were accepted.

COUNCIL APPROVES NEW ANNEXATION

Members of the City Council met last night in special session to consider several matters of importance that had been held over from the last regular meeting of that body, awaiting the return of Councilman Lapham from his vacation.

It was decided to advertise for bids on a carload of pipe and fittings to be supplied according to specifications as prepared by the public service department of the city, for use by that department. These bids are to be opened at the next meeting of the Council, September 22.

Notice was also filed with the Council to the effect that Mrs. Annie H. Sandison and others intended to file a petition for annexation to Glendale of a certain territory adjoining the eastern boundary line of Burbank. This action was approved by the Council.

Judge H. F. Lowe appeared before the Council and requested that he be granted a vacation to be taken on alternate days for two weeks, starting today. This request was granted.

"It Is an Infernal Lie," Declares Youth When Confronted
With Alleged Statement in Los Angeles Examiner
Regarding Killing of J. Belton Kennedy

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13.—"It is an infernal lie from beginning to end."

Speaking in a clear, firm voice, and looking the interviewer squarely in the face, as he pressed his cheek close to the bars of his cell in the county jail today, Arthur Burch branded a statement of Chandler Sprague, a reporter for the Los Angeles Examiner, that Burch had confessed to the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, as a "tissue of falsehoods."

"There isn't a word of truth in it," said Burch regarding Sprague's copyrighted article printed in this morning's Los Angeles Examiner, in which Sprague claims Burch confessed to him that he slew Kennedy with the knowledge of Mrs. Obenchain as the only means of ending an intolerable situation.

representative at the county jail that there is a word of truth in Burch's purported statement insofar as she is concerned.

Burch had been sleeping soundly and arose from his cot to talk to the International News Service representative. He was clad only in his underwear. He appeared to be astounded when told of Sprague's revelations.

After making his statement he said he did not care to give a further comment until he had talked with his attorney, Paul Schenck.

CITY SCHOOL STUDENTS INCREASE 32 PER CENT

The report of registration at the city schools as submitted by Superintendent Richardson D. White, shows a total in the grades of 2632, against 1994 last year at this time. It is apparent that there has been an increase of about 32 per cent.

At the close of the schools last June the enrollment had crept up to 2472, or 478 more pupils than were registered at the beginning. It is reasonable to suppose that the same thing will happen this year and that before the school year ends Mr. White will be superintendent of grade schools that represent about 3200 pupils.

At the opening of city schools last year the kindergartens had an enrollment of 175 and when they closed 176, showing practically the same attendance throughout the year. This year 183 have registered, a very slight gain.

The total registration at Glendale High to date is 1010, against 801 at this time last year, or a gain of about 20 per cent. During the year the registration was increased by 281 additional students, including the graduates from Intermediate who entered the midwinter term.

The same thing will inevitably happen this year and bring the enrollment to not less than 1300.

NEW REALTOR HERE

Peter Hanson, of the Hanson Realty Exchange of Los Angeles, with branches at Long Beach, Lankershim, Baldwin Park and Gardena, has located in Glendale, which city has been his home for a year or more. Mr. Hanson will close all of his branch offices, retaining the main office in Los Angeles, and will be located at 124 West Broadway, Glendale. He has some very substantial realty holdings here and is a "regular" booster for Glendale.

BUILDING BURNS

The Glendale fire department No. 1 was called out at about 5 o'clock this morning to take care of a blaze up in Verdugo canyon. The burning building was so far from the boulevard that it was impossible to take the machine to it, but the firemen did their best.

FIREMEN HUNT DEER

Fireman George Meyers, Volunteers Julius Moniot and Ralph Meyers, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Ruggiero are doing a little deer hunting in the country around Palm Springs. They left Sunday and will be gone about a week.

FEDERATION P. T. A. MEETING

There will be a meeting of the Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations at the Intermediate School tomorrow afternoon at 2:15 o'clock. Mrs. John Robert White, the president, who has returned from her sojourn at Hermosa beach, will preside.

KENSINGTON CLUB MEETING

The Kensington Club of the Women's Relief Corps will meet with its president, Mrs. Alma Dutton, 113 East Laurel street, Wednesday, September 13, at 2 o'clock.

COFFIN CALLED LUXURY IN GERMAN TAX BILL

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—Drastic decisions as to what constitutes a luxury are taken by the German Government in their new taxation program, to meet the reparations' bill.

The Government has decided that bathtubs and coffins are luxuries and must pay the tax. Plain pine coffins are tax free.

A premium was put on short skirts by the inclusion of long or wide skirts in the "luxury" category.

NEWCOMER IN TOWN

J. J. Schwartz of Minneapolis registered at the Glendale Chamber of Commerce this morning. He is in Glendale with a view of looking over this section, and he wants to know just why Glendale is growing so rapidly. Secretary Rhoades told him why.

STREET DANCE

Here's something new for Glendale. It is in the nature of a street dance which will be given Thursday night by Kenny's Music Shop, 203 North Brand boulevard. On this occasion the dancing will be entirely free, the music to be furnished by the Columbia Magnavox, which amplifies the tone about 1000 times. Mr. Kenny is exclusive agent for this new device in Glendale.

HYDROPLANES USED TO HUNT GOATS AT CATALINA

(By International News Service)

AVALON, Catalina Island, Sept. 13.—After successfully demonstrating that mountain goats can be hunted and shot from a hydro-airplane John Edwin Hogg and Philip Johnston, sportsmen, and H. H. Holloway, an aviator, have returned from an expedition to San Clemente Island, a mountainous area lying near Catalina Island.

Hogg, who is widely known as a writer, said goat hunting from a flying boat possesses thrills that ought to satisfy the most adventurous hunter of game.

"Holloway piloted the flying boat, while Johnston and I were hanging out of the passengers' cockpit, protected from falling by heavy straps attached to our legs," said Hogg in describing the trip. "I had a high powered rifle, as did Johnston, and it was our business to shoot into herds of goats after we had located them."

"The first few times we located herds the machine was plunged downward from a height of 1,000 feet to within one hundred feet of the frightened animals. Imagine if you can the sensation of falling 900 feet, head downward, toward scampering animals, all the while trying to aim a rifle, then being quickly brought up with a jerk that almost pulled one from the flying boat. But this was the time to fire and Johnston and I blazed away as fast as we could."

"After repeated skirmishes with the wily animals we finally got close enough to them to shoot six. We recovered two of the bodies. The rest of the dead animals fell where they were inaccessible."

"There are thousands of the wild goats on San Clemente Island, which is uninhabited except for a few shepherds. They can travel at terrific speed on the dizzy heights, and at times it seemed they were going as fast as a horse can run."

KINCY HOME LOOTED

After spending several weeks at the beach Mrs. William Kincy returned to her home, 360 Ivy street yesterday and found that during her absence the house had been entered and several articles of wearing apparel and jewelry had been stolen.

According to Mrs. Kincy's report to the police her house was in disorder when she returned, as though someone had made a thorough search of every part, looking for valuables. She checked over her property and found that the following articles were missing: A dark blue beaded georgette dress, a silk sweater, a red satin camisole, lady's gold hunting case watch, with the initials C. O. M. engraved on one side and a hole where a small stone had been set on the other, a short strand of amethyst beads, a pair of indestructible pearl earrings and a silver wine stem with a carved dragon on one side.

FIRE CHIEF VISITING

Chief A. H. Lankford of the Glendale fire department, accompanied by Mrs. Lankford, is enjoying a vacation trip of two weeks in the Bishop back country. A card was received from them this morning. It was mailed at Mary's Lake, one of the back-country postoffices. Mr. and Mrs. Lankford will also do some fishing in Convict Lake and Mammoth Lake, as well as many of the streams of that section. It is expected that they will return to Glendale Sunday afternoon.

KENNETH WHITE RECOVERING

Mrs. John Robert White reports that her son Kenneth, who has been so seriously ill of heart trouble, is pronounced all right by the doctors, though they say he must be careful for a while not to overtax his heart by too numerous exercise.

Never in the history of Glendale has such an intensive drive for new members of the Chamber of Commerce been conducted as is being carried out at this time. The four committees that have this matter in charge are working day and night in their efforts to swell the membership list of the Chamber and to bring it up to at least 1000 by the close of September.

That their efforts are being crowned with success is shown by the fact that up to noon today, 36 new applications for membership were turned in by the chairmen of the various committees. These, Secretary J. M. Rhoades was given to understand, are simply a beginning. They were gathered in the operation of getting under way. Each chairman reports that there is a vast number of prospects, including many who have given their word to sign up in a few days.

As Assistant Secretary Sanders put it this morning:

Prospects are Bright
"Things are certainly looking rosy and I am more than encouraged with the showing that is being made by the members of the various committees. They are going after new members with hammer and tongs, as they say. The list of names turned in thus far is encouraging, but we are expecting greater things in the days that are to come."

A merry competition between the various committees is developing in this drive. The different chairmen are circulating among their assistants and are doing everything they can to stimulate activity. The results show that their efforts are not without results.

Committees to Meet
There will be a meeting of all the committees at 6 o'clock Friday evening, at the White Inn. At this time the reports of the committee members will be given and plans for the coming week's work will be discussed. It is the intention of those in charge of this drive to hold these meetings every Friday evening until the drive is over.

The banquet that will be given at the close of the drive will be a very elaborate affair. At this banquet will be the members of the various committees, along with all the new members as well as those outside of the committees who have secured a new member during the drive.

The next week of this campaign will be even more hotly contested than the week just closed.

DR. NICE REGISTERS

Dr. H. Warren Nice, 1083 West 35th street, Los Angeles, was in Glendale today and registered at the Chamber of Commerce.

ARTHUR G. LINDLEY GIVEN SURPRISE ON BIRTHDAY

Arthur G. Lindley, the well-known architect, was a gratified father and a much surprised man when he found himself the guest of honor at a birthday dinner in celebration of his fiftieth birthday.

The affair was arranged by his daughter, Miss Zelma Lindley, who so successfully concealed the plans that her father was as fully surprised as she could possibly desire.

A yellow and white color scheme featured the pretty table, centered with dahlias and golden rod, place cards and favors were also of yellow and at the psychological moment two handsome cakes, one yellow and one white, each bearing twenty-five candles were placed before the honoree.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Smith, their sons George and James Smith and daughter Elizabeth Hanson, Miss Alice Watson, her brother Ivy Watson, Mrs. Floyd Reed and son Ernest Reed, Mr. Lindley and daughter, Zelma Lindley.

The dinner was followed by a social and musical evening.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Weyl's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

ADVENTIST PAROCHIAL SCHOOL IS DEDICATED

The meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association at the Seventh-Day Adventist School on North Isabel street last night, was, in a way, a formal dedication of the new school building to educational uses, and the auditorium, which accommodates about 300, was well filled.

There are three class rooms, a library, superintendent's office, hall, dressing rooms, etc., and in the little speech of greeting and welcome, Elder E. F. Neff voiced the pleasure of the audience in this new structure, which, in addition to its school uses, will also serve as a social hall for church affairs.

Miss M. E. Learned gave a short history of the Church School in Glendale, going back to 1907, when sessions were held in the gymnasium of the Glendale Sanitarium and but one teacher was employed. Now the school has 155 students, with more in prospect, and nine teachers.

Musical numbers consisted of a song, "Little Brown Church in the Dell," by academy students; and the songs "Blest Be the Tie that Binds" and "Tenting Tonight on the Old Camp Ground," in which all joined. Elder R. W. Munson opened the session with prayer, and there were readings by Clarence Travis and Virginia Gritten.

At a short business session, the need for about 60 more opera chairs in the auditorium was voiced, and taken care of by members of the audience subscribing enough to buy one or more chairs, as their means allowed.

The meeting closed with a social half-hour and reception, at which the guests of honor were the teachers, the instructors in the academy being: Max Hill, principal; W. B. Darr, Miss Sadie Baird, Miss Lola Preston, Mrs. F. H. Westphal; intermediate and primary teachers are: Misses Edith Barnes, Mabel and Ethel De Groot and Mavis Smith.

Members of the Church board present at the meeting were: Dr. C. A. Burrows, Dr. E. W. Alsberge, Elder E. F. Neff, Prof. W. W. Ruble, Elder G. A. Reaser, W. D. Salisbury, Mrs. Nellie Simpson, Mrs. F. H. Paap and Miss M. E. Learned. Mrs. E. W. Alsberge is president of the Parent-Teacher Association.

ROCK BOTTOM STORES YIELD BIG DIVIDENDS

One concern in Southern California that has apparently weathered the recent business crisis with no bad results, is the Federal Grocery Company, operating a chain of 80 retail grocery stores throughout Southern California known as the Rock Bottom Stores, one of which is located in Glendale.

At a meeting of the board of directors of this corporation held on September 1, a resolution was passed to pay stockholders of record September 1, a stock dividend of $70,702 on common stock, being equal to 50 per cent of the subscribed capital stock on that date. After the payment of this dividend there still remains a surplus equal to 20 per cent of all the subscribed capital stock.

This corporation, under the management of Mr. J. A. Daley, has made wonderful progress in the last four years of its operation. Immediately following the payment of the stock dividend, the corporation will offer the balance of its capital stock of 300,000 shares, divided equally between common and preferred, to the public at par. The Federal Grocery Company is owned entirely by Southern California stockholders. In addition to its chain of retail stores, it operates a large wholesale house in the Los Angeles terminal market, and manufactures quite extensively the food products it sells. Its present issued capital stock amounts to approximately $140,000.

TUESDAY CLUB HAS NEW SECTION TO STUDY CRAFTS

A new section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club was formed last Tuesday. This was the Arts and Crafts section for the study of home decorating and fancy work, or anything pertaining to home arts. This section is in charge of Mrs. Ralph Meeker, and she states that any club member is eligible to this section, and that if they want to learn to do any new kind of needlework, or artwork, this will be a very good opportunity.

The meetings will be held the second and fourth Thursdays of the month at the library, but the first one is to be at the home of Mrs. Meeker, 1320 East Colorado street the second Thursday in October. It is hoped that a large number will join this section.

C. E. GO VISITING

On last Friday evening, the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Christian Church hiked to the home of Edith Learned, a little beyond Grand View avenue, where they enjoyed a weiner bake in the bottom of the reservoir, which, of course, was dry. They also roasted marshmallows and later in the evening played games and sang several songs. Everyone had a delightful time.

The beginning of the fall and winter activities was marked by a splendid meeting Sunday evening, at which the society decided to enter the "Four Square" contest that was started at the world convention in New York. A very enthusiastic time is expected for this season. Next Friday evening a business meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Stoler, 339 West Colorado. All members and interested parties are requested to be present at 7:45.

NEW YOUNG FOLKS HERE

Some new-comers in Glendale are the Misses Laura, Shirley and Pearl Payne of 1439 East California avenue. They are here from Hutchinson, Kan., and have purchased a home in Glendale. The Paynes and Dr. Caroline Payne Jackman were all friends back in the eastern city and it was with much surprise that Dr. Jackman discovered them here in Glendale. Miss Pearl Payne is an artist and she will, no doubt, take up that work here.

MRS. TOLL IS ILL

Mrs. Charles H. Toll is still suffering from the influenza cold which she contracted in Portland on her way home from a northern auto trip. It has kept her pretty closely confined to her home and prevented the little trips she expected to make with her son, Hubert Toll, who returns to Boston the last of this week.

ATHLETICS AT G. U. H. S.

About 50 high school boys lined up before Coach Normal Hayhurst yesterday for the football tryouts. Lockers and suits will be given out today.

About 900 students had enrolled for gym work up to this morning, and many more are expected.

The first bicycle driven by pedals was made in Paris in 1866.

Agricultural Exhibit At Riverside Fair

The United States Department of Agriculture has in preparation a wonderful agricultural exhibit for the Southern California Fair. This exhibit is arranged in demonstrational form; and will depict in a very practical way the work which is being done by our Government in assisting the farmer, the rancher and the breeder in overcoming the many difficulties with which they are confronted, and conquering the various insidious enemies of their crops and herds.

This display will also show the work that is being done to accomplish a national highway system. It will show what the Forest Service is doing to preserve the forest and to replant the areas which have been devastated. This exhibit will be located in the center of the big agricultural tent, and will undoubtedly be the center of much interest.

The State Department of Agriculture also is bringing a very fine exhibit of their work as it touches the general agricultural interests of the state. It will show the work of the various departments in very original form. A careful study of some of these exhibits will give the farmer and breeder an intimate acquaintance with the many rodent, insect, and parasitic pests which waylay them on all hands.

In the big tent will be shown wonderful exhibits from six or seven counties of Southern California, and from every community of Riverside County. The date industry of Coachella Valley will be shown in attractive detail and there will also be an Avocado display that will be a center of interest for a large number who are interested in this very valuable new product.

Dogs To Be Shown

The dog show which will be held on Saturday and Sunday, October 15 and 16, during the Southern California Fair, promises to be a big affair in dogdom. A permanent American Kennel Club has been organized which will have charge of this exhibit, and the leading fanciers of Southern California are taking an active interest in making the Riverside show one of the largest that will be held this season in the south. Mr. P. W. Higgins, of 305 South Hobart street, Los Angeles, Secretary of the Kennel Club, will be very glad to furnish any information regarding this show to anyone interested.

Swine Department

In the swine department of the Southern California Fair this Fall, there will be special futurity shows in all the leading breeds. Much interest has attached to the forming of these special litter shows which is shown by the fact that futurities have filled in the Duroc-Jersey, Hampshire, Berkshire and Poland China breeds. This in itself will make a very interesting show. The entries in the open classes are coming in very rapidly and secretary W. W. Van Pelt of the Fair expects a larger swine show than last year, which was the banner year in the history of the Fair.

Poultry breeders and fanciers will find a wonderful show awaiting them. There will be over fifteen hundred specimens of the various breeds of the feathered flocks. This will constitute the greatest poultry show on the western coast this year, and the plan for this big display is, already the center of interest for poultry producers in every variety.

Bantams of every known variety will make up a very attractive feature of this big show, constituting the largest bantam exhibit on the coast and the National Bantam Association show for the year. There will also be a very complete and unusual pigeon show, with many specimens of each variety.

This is the tenth annual poultry show for Riverside, and it is under the direction of Mr. E. I. Hammond, who has a wide reputation as a superintendent and showman of feathered flocks. So a wonderfully interesting exhibit is promised.

There will another big goat show under the direction of Mr. Oscar Crowell which, from present indications, promises to exceed that of last year. A large display of milk goats of Toggenberg, Saanen, and Nubian breeds will be shown.

The rabbit industry is also coming to the fore with another wonderful exhibition, and rabbit fanciers of all parts of Southern California are indicating their intention of making this a great show.

Junior Department

The Junior Department at the Southern California Fair this year is making history for junior work in the Fair. Over fifty pig clubs will exhibit their prize winners in a big tent exclusively given over to the junior work. There will also be poultry clubs, calf clubs, junior agricultural displays, and bee clubs exhibiting their products. These are all supervised clubs from some form of educational institution, and are under the direct management of the state club leaders.

Sheep Industry

The sheep industry shows a very marked revival of interest if the large increased list of entries received at the Southern California Fair at Riverside is any indication. It is estimated that there will be ten times as many sheep shown this year than ever before. They come from all parts of the state, and there will be exhibited breeds new to California that will be of great interest to sheep men and general livestock breeders.

Carnival Show

The largest carnival company on the western coast this year has contracted for the entertainment concession at the Southern California Fair at Riverside. They carry six new rides, and twelve big shows, besides the many and sundry attractions which attach to the modern carnival, and we are assured that there will be something doing every minute on the Midway at Riverside.

Wedding presents in Hungary are given only to poor couples to help them get their homes together.

BEAMONS EXPLORE WILDS OF NORTH

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Beamon and son, Charles, of 203 North Maryland avenue, accompanied by M. V. Beamon, returned Saturday night from a very wonderful trip through the northern part of the State. They were equipped for camping, and stopped the first night at Santa Maria, the second at Pacific Grove and the third night they arrived at their destination, the redwood forest at Big Basin City. There they found ample camping grounds and facilities, and spent an enjoyable nine days.

"Most of us took the trip to Big Basin for a vacation, and there were over 700 people there," said Mrs. Beamon. "We found so many huckleberries that it was impossible to resist the temptation to can them. Nearly every woman in camp was canning or making huckleberry jelly."

"The redwood forest is so much different from Yosemite and other national parks in that you are allowed to pick the wild flowers and other growths there. This makes it so much more like being out in the wilds. On our return trip we stopped at Pismo Beach, which is the longest and widest beach in California. I believe it is about the dirtiest beach also, for the camping facilities are very poor. The only reason we stopped there is because it is famous for its clams. Charles dug 210 out of one hole in about five minutes, but had to put them all back because they did not measure 4½ inches across the long way of the shell. However, we did find enough to make some delicious clam broth."

"We were entertained quite royally while at Big Basin, for every night out under the big trees, different people would volunteer to either sing, dance or do some stunt. There was always a great variety of things and the platform was made out of the base of a huge redwood tree, over 4000 years old. The seats were hewn logs and together they made a beautiful open air auditorium."

"We found it pretty cold in the northern part of the State, but it seemed to put pep in us, and we feel greatly refreshed. The gardens and fields were very nice up there, but there is nothing that looks any better than the San Fernando Valley."

Missionary Women's Meeting

The 35th annual convention of the Southern California council of Women's Home Missionary societies is being held this week at the Asbury Methodist church, on North Workman street, Los Angeles. Very fine programs have been arranged for the meetings, which will be held on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from nine a. m. until mid-afternoon.

HATFIELD FEUDIST SEEKS PEACEFUL PURSUITS

Col. William M. Hatfield

SISTERSVILLE, W. Va., Sept. 12.—George Washington Hatfield, brother of "Devil Anse" Hatfield, central figure in the Hatfield-McCoy feud, has deserted the gun play, bad men and rough stuff of Pike county, Kentucky, and become a "shanty-boater" on the Ohio river. His shanty boat is moored not far from this city, at Mill Run, on the Ohio side of the river.

Hatfield is getting along in years. Mountain warfare is too strenuous a sport for a man 76 years old. Shanty boating is much more peaceful and a whole lot less dangerous than fighting from behind trees and rocks and occasionally out in the open.

Has Squaw Wife

So the other day the old feudist from Pike county, Kentucky, bade good-bye to his old Kentucky home—scenes of many joys and a lot of sorrows—and bled a few belongings and his full-blooded squaw wife into a rickety old buggy and drove overland.

It is the first time any of the many Hatfields have forsaken the hills and taken to the water.

Like "Devil Anse," George Washington Hatfield has given up his fighting proclivities and "got religion" in his old age. But if anybody should start anything Hatfield would just as soon shoot to kill as not.

"I'm a law-abidin' citizen, religious, and don't aim to make any fuss, but when one of our blood is murdered the murderer must pay," he said. Hatfield still carries a "six gun." It's always ready for action.

Treasures Rifle and Violin

Hatfield lives for two things—his rifle and his violin. The rifle is an ancient type over 100 years old, and with it he is a crack shot. He plays well on the violin those quaint, old-fashioned melodies and dance steps familiar to the backwoods country. His wife accompanies him on the guitar. Hatfield, like the rest of his clan, is a "hard-shell" Baptist and he daily entertains crowds of folks from the surrounding territory, telling their fortunes from the Bible.

During the Civil War he fought in the Confederate army.

NEW SENATE WILL RATIFY PEACE TREATY

By H. K. REYNOLDS
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Multi-tudinous tasks, including revision of the tariff and internal revenue laws, the ratification of the German peace treaty and scores of less important bits of legislative business will confront the Senate when it convenes again late in September to complete the work undertaken during the extraordinary session of Congress called by President Harding in April.

The eyes of the Nation will be turned upon the upper branch of the national legislature when the wheels of law-making machinery begin to revolve again, because the major purposes of the present session have already been accomplished by the lower house, and it is now up to the Senate to finish the job. House leaders "point with pride" to the grist which has come from their part of the legislative mill since April, and have decided to let the Senate go it alone for a few weeks after Congress reconvenes, while they remain in session only formally and transact no business.

Chairman Penrose, of the Senate Finance Committee, will bring out the Fordney Revenue bill soon after the Senate gets back on the job, and, when it is tinkered with and finally passed, will give his colleagues a chance to wrestle with the new Tariff bill. Many weeks will be occupied before these important fiscal measures are adjusted in conference between the two Houses and sent to the White House for Presidential approval. There are whispered rumors that action on the Tariff bill may be deferred until after the disarmament conference, which is due to get under way in November.

To Oppose Finance Bill

One of the big party fights of the wind-up of the present session will be over Senator Borah's bill to grant free passage through the Panama Canal to American vessels engaged in coast-wise trade. President Harding has indicated his disapproval of the legislative method of granting free tolls to American ships, believing that the matter should be adjusted through diplomatic channels; but Borah insists that the Senate pass his bill, and he will make a strenuous effort to put it through.

The Administration plan for authorizing the War Finance Corporation to purchase railroad securities, now held by the Railroad Administration, and to use the money thus acquired to extend financial relief to the steam lines to the extent of half a billion dollars, will encounter some stiff opposition when the Senate takes up the Winslow-Townsend bill, already passed by the House. Democrats of the Interstate Commerce Committee will lead the fight on the bill, and they will receive able and protracted assistance from Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin. Administration leaders want to get the bill through, but even the most sanguine of them see no chance for its enactment before the beginning of next session and probably not until the middle of January.

In addition to engineering the Tariff and Revenue bills through the Senate, Senator Penrose, as chief of the Finance Committee, will also have a big job on his hands in securing the passage of his bill to give the Secretary of the Treasury blanket authority for the liquidation of the $11,000,000, 000 indebtedness of foreign Governments to the United States. Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, ranking Democratic member of the Finance Committee, is expected to file a minority report on the Penrose bill.

Anti-Beer Fight Near

In conferences between members of the Postoffice and Post Roads Committees of the Senate and House will be fought out the question of providing a different method for the extension of Federal aid to the various States in the construction of highways. The last action on this subject was taken by the Senate in the passage of the Townsend bill appropriating $75,000,000 for this purpose during the present fiscal year and giving the Secretary of Agriculture authority to control the distribution of these funds. The House has ideas of its own as to how this road-building money should be passed out, and some interesting sessions of the "good roads" conference committee are in prospect before a complete agreement is reached.

The anti-beer fight will be reopened in the Senate, with members of the Judiciary Committee, led by Senator Sterling, intent on the adoption of the Anti-Saloon League's "search and seizure" amendment to the Willis-Campbell bill, and with Senators Reed and Stanley, having emerged victorious from one filibuster against the measure, leading the opposition, with all the parliamentary stumbling blocks they are able to put in the way of adoption.

Among matters on the Senate calendar which will probably be productive of oratory in the coming weeks are a number of resolutions, including: To request the President to ascertain whether France is willing to discuss the cession to the United States of all or part of its possessions in the Lesser Antilles; protesting against the United States taking any part in foreign councils except upon the understanding that the purposes are to be the fulfillment of the pledges made by responsible representatives of this country and the Allied Governments during the war; calling upon the President for information relative to conditions in Mexico; instructing the President to remove from office the present five members of the Federal Reserve Board and to appoint five members who are not bankers; authorizing the President to call a conference of the leading mercantile nations to consider ways and means for the stabilization of international exchange.

Bergdoll Case Comes Up

The House has no measures of great moment on its calendar, but is expected to stage a wordy battle over the adoption of the majority or minority report filed by the special committee which investigated the escape from military authorities of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, wealthy Philadelphia draft dodger.

The present extraordinary session has not been without its accomplishments on the part of both Houses. Among the bills which have been enacted into law since April are: Emergency Tariff, Immigration Restriction, establishment of the Bureau of the Budget, passage of the resolution declaring peace with Germany, the Army and Navy appropriations for the present fiscal year, consolidation of Governmental soldier relief agencies in the United States Veterans' Bureau, Federal regulation of grain exchanges, control of the packing industry, giving the War Finance Corporation power to bolster up agricultural credits for export purposes.

The "agricultural blocs" in both the Senate and House have had considerable influence over legislation in this Congress, with the result that much that has been done has been designed to relieve the depressed condition of the farming industry.

Congress still has much to accomplish before President Harding's dream of pre-war "normalcy" is realized, but the lawmakers will return to Washington refreshed by their vacation and ready to plunge into their job with renewed vigor.

AUTO "VIGILANTES" FORMED

(By International News Service)
HONOLULU, Sept. 13.—A corps of "vigilantes" and an auxiliary force of "one cent a year" plain-clothes traffic cops are the latest moves of the Honolulu Automobile Club in its effort to put a stop to the reckless driving which has been the cause of an appalling number of automobile accidents in the island capital during the past few months.

The vigilantes, whose identity is known only to the officials of the Automobile club, will have no authority to make arrests for violation of the traffic laws, but will report any violations of these laws which may come to their notice.

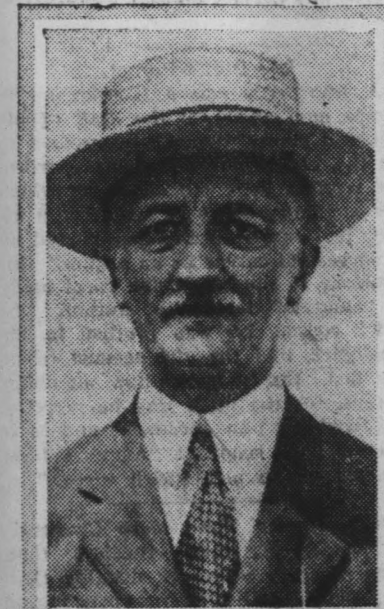

NEVER HEARD OF BABE RUTH

BOSTON, Sept. 13.—"Babe" Ruth's fame as King of Swat is not as widespread as some people imagine. Frank Doherty, of Allston, a ball player of note himself, found that out when he picked up a passenger who turned out to be a passenger. The mariner mentioned the fact that he was a "graduate" of a reform school.

"Don't let that worry you," said Doherty. "So is Babe Ruth."

"Who is Babe Ruth?" asked the innocent shellback. "An admiral?"

"OLD KENTUCKY HOME" TO BE PARK SITE

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 13.—The old Southern mansion, Federal Hill, near Bardstown, where "My Old Kentucky Home" was written by Stephen C. Foster, has become the property of the State.

A state commission recently appealed to "Kentuckians at home and abroad" for funds with which to purchase the property and maintain it forever as a State park. More than $60,000 was subscribed.

The property was purchased for $50,000, and the balance of the fund will be used to maintain the place until the State can make further provision for its upkeep.

ROYALTY SELLS BATHTUB

(By International News Service)
HONOLULU, Sept. 13.—Pothos mingled with comedy as the furniture and household fittings of the late Queen Lilioukalani, deposed monarch of Hawaii, went "on the block" and were "knocked down" by the auctioneer to the top bidder here recently.

A large crowd, representative of many nationalities, gathered to witness the auction, and many a Hawaiian eye was moist with tears as some particular piece of furniture brought back memories of the old days and the vanished glory of a kingdom. Three of the late Queen's bathtubs went for $37.50 apiece to a Chinese contractor.

GRANDSON BRINGS JOY

(By International News Service)
CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 13.—It was only a word of three letters, cabled from China, but it brought joy and pride to Joseph Schauweker, Cleveland Stock Exchange broker. Incidentally it cost $9, or $3 per letter. The message follows: "Tsin-Tsin, China, July 31, Schauweker-Schofield, Building, Cleveland, O., U. S. A.—Boy."

There was no signature. But I know who it's from—my son-in-law, Captain Thomas Arms, U. S. Infantry, stationed at Tsin-Tsin," Schauweker explained. "I'm a granddaddy."

The men had merely been swearing at each other, they testified. The Magistrate criticised the constable for making the arrest.

SUNSET ROUTE IS TO BE BOOSTED BY SO. PACIFIC

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—"From Ocean to Ocean via Sunset Route" is the leading feature of the Southern Pacific Bulletin for September, just off the press. The article by R. F. Wilson, advertising agent, passenger department, is a lively travelogue over the Southern Pacific iron trail that connects two of the most distinctive cities in the world—San Francisco and New Orleans. It depicts the charm and romance of the south and picturesque scenery of the west.

Included also in this issue is a history of the Southern Pacific lines in Texas and Louisiana, and a description of the company's facilities at Galveston that makes it possible to transfer freight quickly and undamaged from the freight cars to the ships of the Morgan line.

The story of the life of Col. Epes Randolph, president of the Southern Pacific lines in Mexico and of the Arizona Eastern Railroad, who recently died at Tucson, is another feature of the number.

Paul Shoup, vice president of the Southern Pacific company, discusses motor vehicle competition and other phases of the railroad problem in an article "Are Railroads Passing?"

How the Southern Pacific finished the big job of straightening and lining with concrete the tunnels on Tehachapi mountain is told in the September issue of the Bulletin, and a brief survey is given of the notable "on time" record in handling Pacific Coast perishable products.

UMP PRODS SLEEPY PLAYERS

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 13.—Here's a hint for a song entitled "Come Out of Your Lethargy, Baseball Fans." Give part of the credit to Umpire O'Conolly, of the American League.

The Browns and Washingtons were lagging along through the slowest game of the season here. O'Conolly stopped the game, discarded his mask, stepped to the front of the grandstand and yawned longingly, stretching thoroughly at the same time.

"That's the way the game is running," he shouted at the players. "If the fans in the stand are not asleep, by jimminy, it's not your fault." The players came out of their lethargy.

LEST WE FORGET

We need somebody with a country-wide national punch to wake us up from the lethargy in which we, the American people, are sinking concerning the men who went across the sea, not because they wanted to fight, but to uphold the honor and high standards of the United States.

We need a new version of "Lest we forget" that will appeal to our own consciences. We get "all het up" over the red tape and criminal delays at Washington, the "callous indifference" to the want and sufferings of disabled veterans, but we entirely overlook any moral obligation to show appreciation at home of what these boys did.

All over the land they have organized, with our approval, the posts of the American Legion, but when they want a post home, permanent quarters, and try to raise a fund to that end, the majority of us side-step. Even when they are getting up an entertainment to help the cause along we dodge the tickets in favor of some commercial movie show, or treat the solicitor for a program ad as though he were a mendicant asking for cold victuals.

The boys right here in Glendale are doing what they can for their less fortunate comrades, but they feel the public has exhausted the enthusiasm with which they were greeted when they came home. They are wrong, of course, but it's up to you and me to show them.

Real Estate Review

As an advance notice of the approaching fall and winter boom in Glendale, real estate and building permits issued from noon yesterday and up to early today reached the total of $35,300. The greater proportion of these permits are for houses averaging $2,000. One permit, however, was a commercial permit and issued to the Glendale Lumber Company for the erection of a lumber shed and office building at their plant, 314-28 North Fernando road.

Additional permits issued before noon today brought the total up to $43,200, making the total for the month of September $185,750, and the total thus far for the year, $3,081,219.

The largest individual project for which building permits were granted yesterday was for the erection of nine houses on East Lomita avenue by Glade & Etting. Each house to be erected will cost $2,000 and will be built at 112, 112A, 114, 114A, 116, 116A, 118, 118A, 120 East Lomita. Each house will be absolutely modern and contain four rooms. The construction of these houses will be done by J. J. Burk.

The largest single permit was issued to W. F. Yeo who is going to erect a six room residence and garage at 334 El Bonito costing $4,000.

Every day has shown an increase in the amount of money involved in new building projects as indicated by building permits issued in Glendale and naturally as building is increasing in the city so are real estate values increasing.

According to real estate men, who are in touch with the market conditions governing the selling of real estate in all parts of Southern California, property in Glendale will, this winter, be in greater demand than in any other portion of the southland.

Glendale to date has shown more real progress than any other small city in the state during the past year and, in proportion, has exceeded even Los Angeles in growth. This is not imaginary growth but is a fact and based upon figures that can be obtained from state and county records. The growth of Glendale in the past year has been remarkable and from present indications the approaching fall and winter will mark a growth that will by far excel last year's record.

"Selling of real estate in Glendale is one of the most cleanly conducted businesses in Southern California," and is well represented by a high-class personnel and the quality of service that is rendered to both the buyer and the seller of the property. It is this personnel and service that has established the high level that the real estate business here in Glendale has attained and has built an excellent foundation for future business that can be nothing except good," said Edwin F. Kulp, prominent real estate agent of Los Angeles, with offices at 205-A North Brand boulevard, in commenting on the real estate business of Glendale.

He also stated that from the present outlook Glendale is due for the biggest year as regards real estate transactions in her history. He bases his belief on four facts, and they are: Glendale at present is physically and morally a clean town, it has an excellent climate, progressive civic government, and last but not least it has a live up-to-date chamber of commerce, that has already worked wonders in the town and so far has only scratched the surface of the work that it intends to accomplish. The success or failure of a town depends on these four things and Glendale, according to Mr. Kulp, leads in these attributes.

In speaking of the business future of Glendale, Mr. Kulp also predicted rapid strides for both Brand boulevard and Broadway. He said it would not be long until Brand boulevard, from Doran street on the north to Lomita on the south, would be solid business blocks and Broadway, from Columbus avenue to Glendale avenue, would show similar advancement.

"My message to the people of Glendale," said Mr. Kulp, "is that business is bound to come this way and is coming. Property will never be cheaper in Glendale than it is today, because Glendale is bound to grow, and there is, at present a real demand for residence property. Most property in Glendale is fairly priced but unfortunately there are a few instances where the owner has overpriced his property. This is unfortunate for the owner as no real estate dealer who has the best interests of the town and the real estate business at heart will recommend such property."

New Business Block

Plans are being drawn for a two-story business block to be erected at the corner of Maple street and Brand boulevard, in the near future, by S. Z. Walter, of 714 North Brand boulevard. This structure, which will be made of brick, will be of two stories and will cost about $25,000. The floor plan will be 50 by 90 feet. There will be five storerooms on Brand boulevard. On the second floor there will be two offices and four 5-room apartments.

Mr. Walter stated today that work on this structure would start just as soon as plans are finished and the contract can be let, which will be about two weeks. After the work has been started, the building will be rushed to completion.

RECENT REAL ESTATE SALES

Recent sales reported by the Edwards & Wilsey Company, real estate brokers, with offices at 139 North Brand boulevard, are:

E. P. Ranson sold to Mr. Murphy of Alexander street two lots in the ned Edwards & Wilsey subdivision on West Salem street. Mr. Murphy intends building homes on both of these lots.

Dr. Sutton, who purchased a lot from Edwards & Wilsey Company on West California street and is building a home there, has purchased two lots on West Wilson. Dr. Sutton intends improving these lots at an early date. Acting for Mr. Gilman of Los Angeles, the firm of Edwards & Wilsey has sold the lot at the corner of Doran and Pacific to F. F. Stoll, recently of Minnesota, who intends to build a home on the property at once.

Edward Turner of Glendale, has recently purchased from A. H. Merrill of Los Angeles, the corner at Pioneer Drive and Pacific. Mr. Turner will build a home at once.

As evidence of the future growth of Glendale and the optimism with which people who are in a position to know view the town's future, W. P. MacMullin of the real estate firm of

STATE CAPITOL NEWS

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 13.—Some forgotten disciple of medicine once gave forth the information after long and diligent research of health records, that one epidemic often brings on another of a widely different nature.

However that may be, reports from two State departments during the past week would indicate that California Japanese are now in the throes of two epidemics. Whether the two outbreaks have any connection is still a matter for conjecture. At any rate the epidemic developed in rapid sequence.

Epidemic No. 1 is classified by members of the State Board of Health in their official records as "an unusual period of fecundation among Japanese residents of California."

Epidemic No. 2 is reported by members of the State Department of Education as "a noticeable tendency on the part of California Orientals to abandon agricultural life with a view to becoming teachers in language schools."

Here are the outstanding facts contained in the report first mentioned: The birth rate of Japanese in California during the first six months of 1921 took a radical jump, the Japanese rate being approximately four times as high as that of whites.

In this six months' period 2,660 Japanese were born in California, making a rate of 69.4 per 1000. In the same period 30,974 white children were born, the rate in this case being only 18.1 per 1000 population. And the following is the story in brief of the Japanese flight from the farm to the "little red school house": Japanese are applying at the rate of forty or fifty per day for special permits from the Department of Education to teach their native tongue to American born Papanese. Approximately 200 have already applied for such permits, although there are only forty Japanese schools in California at the present time, each of which employs as a rule—but one teacher.

Sam H. Cohn, director of foreign language schools, is baffled by the rush of the Orientals to the schools. Some of the Orientals explain that they are sick—that is they are sick of farm life. When asked where they expect to get jobs the usual reply is something like this: "No job yet; much jobs pretty quick."

Edwards & Wilsey closed a deal late yesterday afternoon for ten lots on West Salem in the Edwards & Wilsey subdivision. The property was sold to Henry A. Michel, a contractor and builder of Glendale, who has built and sold more property in Glendale during the past three years than any other contractor. Mr. Michel intends to build a house on every lot purchased by him and sell them to Glendale homeseekers.

Seven-day-a-week business men will probably make a rush for State jobs when they read the following: State employees worked two and one-half days out of a possible six during the past week. Here is how they rested: Monday was Labor Day, a legal holiday; Thursday was Governor's Day at the State Fair, an unofficial holiday; Friday was Admission Day, a legal holiday; and Saturday was a half holiday as per custom.

Two men in the State Capital had a big burden lifted from their minds a few days ago. They were State Purchasing Agent W. G. McMillin and W. C. Conger, Superintendent of Capitol and Grounds. The burden was lifted by Edgerton Shore, of the Board of Control who announced that these officials would be retained in their present positions despite the fact that their jobs were technically abolished under the State government reorganization laws passed by the last Legislature. The only change will be changes in title.

The week brought a new candidate for the Governorship. Robert M. Clarke, of Los Angeles, an old time Progressive and follower of Hiram Johnson, publicly announced that he will be a candidate for gubernatorial honors in 1922. The race is warming up early, say veteran politicians, which presages a hot battle in the final stages. John S. Chambers, former State Controller and now vice-president of the Sacramento branch of the Bank of Italy, is also thinking of making the race, according to his friends.

The State received a gift of $777,061.32 from the Federal government, a couple of days ago. It represented California's share of the money collected as royalties and rentals under the Federal mineral leasing act of 1920.

It costs $276,000 weekly to construct and maintain California highways, according to a statement by M. D. Darlington, chairman of the State Highway Commission. On October 27th the State will attempt to float $5,000,000 worth of highway bonds at 5 1/2 per cent interest, so that highway work can go on without restriction.

Maryland: C. M. Jones to 742 East Wilson; Thomas Sherwin to 615 South Louise; Ira M. Randolph to 1120 North Louise, and Glen-Hudson Motor Co. to 230 North Brand.

Light meters were ordered installed for the following: A. G. Smith, 833 East Chestnut; F. E. Litzberg, 109 West Wilson; J. A. King, 330 Patterson; G. F. Dair, 1400 Fifth; Grand View district; Mrs. O. J. Thompson, 435 West Doran; Roy A. J. Phillips, 112 South Columbus; C. D. Gulick, 1237 South Central, and H. L. Babb, 143 South Verdugo.

NEW PAINT STORE FORMALLY OPENS IN GLENDALE

The Stevens Paint Store, 219 1/2 East Broadway, will hold its formal opening tomorrow. H. T. Stevens, who is living with his family at 326 West Harvard street, is the proprietor of this new establishment. He has unbounded faith in Glendale and says he expects to see this city continue to grow for years to come. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens and daughter, Miss Florence, who will attend Occidental College this year, came to Glendale about a year ago from Quincy, Ill. They intend to make this city their home from this time forth.

The Stevens Paint Store will carry an excellent line of paints, the best that can be secured, a splendid line of wall paper of all the latest designs and a complete line of the Pittsairn varnishes.

One pound of oil used in ships, furnaces has the same heating effects as ten pounds of coal.

DROWNED IN CROCK

WELLSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 13.—Stumbling en route to the spring house where she was making butter, Miss Beulah Freshwater, 32, stuck her head in a barrel-shaped two gallon crock filled with water and was drowned. Her lifeless body with her head wedged in the crock was found by her father, John Freshwater, prominent Brooke county dairyman, two hours after the woman left for the spring house. Her head was so tightly wedged in the heavy earthen crock that it was necessary to break the vessel with a hatchet.

Gathered About Town

Lomita and Elk avenues, which extend west from Adams street paralleling each other as far as Glendale avenue, both make quite a "jog" to the south there, and Lomita changes direction slightly there, deflecting to the southwest. The two streets are a little over a hundred feet apart at Glendale avenue, but at Central the distance is 392 feet. At the former place S. N. Browne recently completed a fine 5-room home, which he and his wife now occupy, and has just started another residence, one of 7 rooms, just north of it. Both face on Glendale avenue and the space between Elk and Lomita is completely taken up by them. Mrs. Brown is a helpmeet indeed, and does not disdain to use saw and hammer, in aid of her carpenter husband, when emergency demands.

L. C. Liggett, who came to Glendale a few months ago from Arkansas, where he had lived for 19 years, was born and raised in Crawford county, Illinois. He left just before the great eastern Illinois oil boom reached that county, and an 80-acre farm near Ob-long, which he sold to a cousin, brought the new owner a fortune, as it was right in the center of the oil belt. Mr. Liggett did well in Arkansas, however. When he came to Glendale he bought the residence property at 1122 East Wilson avenue, where he still lives, together with a brother who came out from Minnesota. Recently he bought 10 acres of Mrs. Fannie Briggs Carr's 16-acre tract, lying between Colorado street and the easterly prolongation of Harvard street, next to Eagle Rock, and is subdividing it for sale. A son-in-law, A. G. Moore, who came out here with his wife a few weeks ago, is building a home on one of the lots. Another daughter, Mrs. H. A. Newberry, lives in Robinson, Crawford county, Illinois, but the Liggetts hope she and her husband may join them out here soon. The youngest daughter, Miss Nell, is still at home.

Styles in houses change as do the styles in clothing, though not quite so frequently. Following the day of the many built-in features, almost eliminating furniture, has come the old-style bare interior, requiring furniture ad lib. Another popular style a few years ago that has almost disappeared to give place to stucco is the single or "shake" exterior. The first of this class of houses to be built in Glendale for a long time is the one at 316 East Chestnut. Both the house, one of six rooms and the garage, have shingle exteriors.

The first of 9 permits for 4-room bungalows at $2000 each, at 112 East Lomita avenue for a bungalow court was taken out yesterday morning by J. J. Burke, contractor, for Glade & Etting, and the other nine in the afternoon.

WAS EXPECTED TO PROTEST

Customary at One Time for Speaker of House of Commons to Resist Appointment.

In one respect a newly appointed speaker of the British house of commons may congratulate himself that there has been an abandonment of some of the old customs, for he is no longer expected to make an elaborate pretense of unwillingness to accept his great office.

This pretense was carried to great lengths at one time, and the ceremony took on some points of likeness to the bridal customs of savage countries, for the speaker was expected to make a show even of physical resistance when led to the chair. It was not an original custom of the house. Far back in history it appears that speakers protested to the house and to the crown against their election only when they really did not want to be appointed. It seems to have been under the Tudors that a ridiculous subservience was imported, and it was expected of the speaker that he should "make repeated excuses and declare himself unworthy of election."

She Didn't Forget.

A few years ago a Hoosier newspaper man added to the staff of his paper a young woman who seemed to have great promise in feature work. He wrote a little skit about her which read: "Every one who reads her work will feel sure that she has started on a successful career as an author." But someone in the composing room made it "amateur" instead of author.

Of course, he was profuse in his apologies, and the girl seemed to be pacified. But he knows now she didn't forget, for the other day he received her wedding announcement, and in it was a note reading: "Again I have started on an amateurish career."

Says Women Take More Chances.

"Women are more reckless than men when it comes to dodging traffic," said a policeman at Forty-second street and Fifth avenue, New York. "Since we got the new street beacons, you know, it's our job to look back people until the flow of vehicles is through on the street and starts on the avenue. The women are worse than men at darting in front of motors and street cars and trying to get across despite orders. The men are pretty easy to handle under the new system, but the women take all the joy out of our jobs."—New York Sun.

TRANSCONTINENTAL FREIGHT RATES REDUCED

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—G. W. Luce, Freight Traffic Manager, Southern Pacific company announces freight rate reductions on both eastbound and westbound transcontinental shipments amounting to as high as 30 per cent. The commodities affected are hardwood lumber from the east, manufactured tobacco for export through Pacific ports, and second hand automobile crates returned to eastern points. The rates will become effective as soon as the tariffs can be published.

The carriers also contemplate publishing a rate of $1.40 per 100 pounds on linoleum, cork carpet, paper felt carpeting and rugs, from eastern points to Pacific Coast terminals only, provided the Interstate Commerce Commission grants the carriers relief from the long and short haul clause.

These are to be high class buildings, say the owners, and there will be four down each side of the 100-foot-wide space, with one and the garage across the rear. A beautiful lawn, lighted with electrolights will ornament the center space.

Swears By Press Want Ads

Jack Lucas, the hustling real estate agent of 309 South Brand boulevard, says he can sell anything on earth with the aid of The Press. Just from force of habit, he orders his little ads in for three times, but invariably he has to telephone a cancellation soon after the paper with the first insertion is delivered. Yesterday noon, he put in an ad for the sale of a new house of Raleigh street. The paper had not been out an hour until the property was sold and a $100 deposit up. He made one sale last week without saying a word to or hearing one from the purchaser, who happened to be deaf and dumb. Here are a few of his recent sales:

E. P. Munger's place at 631 East Maple street to George W. Rich of 518 Oak street.

Residence property on Laclede avenue to Everett L. Bishop of Seattle, Washington.

Mrs. Predmore's five-room bungalow at 4026 Goodwin avenue to Mrs. Houston of Los Angeles.

Walter Hayden's four-room residence at 211 South Kenilworth avenue to J. W. Worthington, the ice man.

A lot owned by W. R. Davis of 333 West Garfield avenue to R. P. Smith, late of Detroit, Mich., who has already begun the erection of a new bungalow on it. Mr. Smith says that if even half of the people of his native city who have declared their intention of coming to Glendale this fall do so, many families will be living in tents by the time winter arrives.

A four-room bungalow, not completed, for T. J. Morgan, on the old Fillingim place, to C. E. Lovell of Los Angeles.

C. A. Cole's new four-room bungalow, just completed, at 511 Raleigh to B. B. Weismann, late of Bozeman, Mont., and by the way, an old friend and admirer of J. W. Ruodas, who was formerly secretary of the Chamber of Commerce there.

Mr. Weismann will open a novelty gift shop in the new building in the course of erection just north of the new Chamber of Commerce building.

CRUDE OIL PRICES

WAVER UNDER TEN NEW SCALES

By SAMUEL N. ROSENTHAL
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

OIL CITY, Pa., Sept. 13.—Equalization of the difference in the cost of the Somerset (Kentucky) grades of crude oil and that from the Mid-Continent field, according to interests close to the Standard Oil Company, are largely responsible for the increase in the price paid for Somerset, which, after a period of nearly two months of unchanged crude prices, have been increased to $1.10 for the heavy and $1.25 for the light grades.

This increase in price still makes it possible, it is explained, for Somerset light and heavy to compete with the lower-priced Mid-Continent grades at seaboard when transportation charges are taken into consideration.

At the same time it is admitted that production of the Somerset grades has not been holding up, and they are not quite so easy to obtain.

In the Pennsylvania crude oil fields the increase in price is viewed with considerable interest, and opinions are conflicting.

Increase in Penn. Doubtful

While it is generally admitted that the increase in the price of Somerset should have a stabilizing and strengthening effect upon crude markets generally, independent refiners believe that the continued scarcity of an outlet for anything but gasoline precludes the possibility of an increase in the Pennsylvania grade in the near future.

Because there is little moving in the line of refined products excepting gasoline, and that under such conditions the Oklahoma crude at $1.25 a barrel less than Pennsylvania affords nearly as much gasoline, one refiner believes that it is not likely that an increase in price will come.

Looking at the situation from the producer's side, there is ample ground for encouragement.

For some time past independent buyers and producers of crude have been paying a premium of 10 cents a barrel above the market. It is understood that no great amounts of oil have changed hands at this figure.

Every producer who can carry his oil is storing it, and there are many who are selling only enough to care for current expenses. At the same time, some encouragement is taken from the report that, even though it is slight, there has been a decrease in stocks in the Oklahoma field.

Competition is Keenest

Summarizing conditions from information received through various sources, it seems as if the future is entirely speculative.

The increase in Somerset prices might stimulate buying in speculative circles interested in the Pennsylvania grade and, however plentiful lower-priced grades may be, such a movement would inevitably result in a higher figure.

Any marked tendency toward an industrial resumption more general than is now evident, and a resultant increase in the demand for lubricating and fuel oils, would have a marked effect on the market, as it is in this line that refiners are heavily stocked. Once products other than gasoline find a ready demand crude prices are bound to increase.

Refiners, although more active than they have been, are still operating on a basis of rigid economy, with the fewest possible number of men, and the competition for outlets for their products is the keenest that has been experienced in the past seven years.

War Slackers Crowd All Federal Prisons

By THOMAS WRIGLEY

International News Service Staff Correspondent

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Sept. 13.—The "slackers" of the world war are soon to receive the inevitable sentences that military justice demands.

Eight men, who were convicted of draft evasion and who hail from all sections of the Central West, are now serving time at the disciplinary barracks at Leavenworth. These eight men are the first of a long list who are expected to be punished.

The sentences of the men range from one to five years at hard labor.

The court-martial awards are being carried out to the "letter," in regard to the imprisoned slackers. Some are working on the prison farm; others are building roads, and the rest are laboring in the barracks shops.

"By the latter part of September," one officer said, "we expect to be receiving a steady stream of convicted draft evaders from all parts of the United States east of the Rocky Mountains."

Names appearing on the lists of draft dodgers which are being issued by various army posts throughout the country, are being carefully checked by government agents who are working in conjunction with army officers to put the army slackers in "the city of silent men." That a steady stream of convicted slackers will be flowing into the United States disciplinary barracks at Leavenworth, Kan., and to Alcatraz, California, by the latter part of September was the prediction of army officers gathered at the Officers' Club here.

Caution is Exercised

The necessity for carefulness in checking the war department's list of draft dodgers explains the numerous delays in the prosecution of certain cases, according to barracks officials.

"Although we exercise extreme care in checking these lists, we oftentimes make mistakes," one officer said. "Already several names of war heroes have crept into the lists through errors."

Although the "red tape" connected with the prosecution of slackers sometimes makes the cases "drag," their conviction is certain. The draft evader is given no loophole to escape. His record is investigated thoroughly, and he is brought before a court martial or into a federal court, according to circumstances under which he evaded service. Convicted, he is sentenced usually to a term of from one to five years at hard labor at one of the disciplinary barracks or a federal penitentiary.

Generally speaking, men who evaded registration during the draft period, or otherwise proved themselves legal slackers before induction into the army, face federal charges, it was explained. Those registered for the draft who failed to appear for service when summoned must stand court martial.

Numerous lists of slackers in the southwest have been issued from Fort Crook, Omaha, Nebraska, headquarters for the Seventh Corps Area of the United States Army, and Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Texas.

500 Prisoners at Fort Jay

Word has been received by the officer commanding the Leavenworth disciplinary barracks that 500 military prisoners from the army of occupation in Germany and from various parts of the United States and possessions are being held at Fort Jay, Governors Island, New York, awaiting transportation to serve sentences in the military prisons throughout the country. Many will be received at the Leavenworth barracks, it was said.

Although no official classification of the offenses of the men at Fort Jay has been received, it is believed several are draft dodgers.

Public sentiment is growing steadily in favor of the drastic measures taken against the slackers, according to army officers and officials of the American Legion. The American Legion has voiced itself as willing to have the complete list of evaders published, in spite of the temporary embarrassment which occasionally occurs through errors in this particular.

LOST RADIUM IS SOUGHT

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 13.—An electroscopist is being used in an effort to recover two small needles of radium which were removed by a nurse from the body of a patient at the Columbus Radium Hospital and burned with refuse. The ashes from the incinerator are being closely searched by means of the instrument. The little needles were valued at $2500.

BELGIUM SEEKS TO CONSERVE LIVES OF CHILDREN

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Belgium is working out a program for the conservation of childhood, according to information reaching the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor. How intelligence, determination and united effort triumph over conquest, war and famine is vividly portrayed in a paper read at the second international conference on the Protection of Childhood, recently held in Brussels, by Dr. Rene Sand, of the University of Brussels, a copy of which has reached Washington.

According to this paper, even during the years of occupation, when the Government had left Belgian soil and the only central co-ordinating agency was the voluntary Comité National, public health activities were started on a hitherto unknown scale, and for the first two years there was an actual decline for this in part by the cessation of industrial work for women.

Retarded Full Year

The average Belgian child was, at the time of the armistice, one full year backward in normal development; the weight of the average Brussels schoolboy was three pounds below normal, while the average school-girl was seven pounds below normal.

The first step in the medical reconstruction of industry was the establishment of an independent Labor Medical Service, which includes in its functions the protection of expectant mothers and nursing working women and the care of the health of working children. The service immediately formulated a constructive program which enlisted the cooperation of all agencies concerned in the promotion of public health, including the health of working mothers and their children.

In the United States eighteen States provide for the physical examination of every child entering industry, but no State has provided for examinations for working children at regular intervals. Belgium has adopted the advanced program of a medical examination for every juvenile not later than a month after it has entered an industrial occupation, to be repeated once a year until the child reaches eighteen, and oftener in case of disease.

Working Youth Protected

Belgium has realized that health protection in the community must go hand in hand with health protection in industry, and Dr. Sand emphasizes the following points: General public health work, child welfare, housing, the restriction of alcohol consumption and education and recreation both for adults and children.

A national children's board has been established, which is maintained by public and private funds. The child welfare program includes the periodic free examination of children under three years of age, brought by their mothers for examination; the establishment of free medical dispensaries for expectant mothers, the diffusion of knowledge relating to infant health and maternal nursing, and the supervision of boarded-out children under seven years of age. The cost of child welfare work is borne one-half by the State, one-fourth by the province and one-fourth by the municipality.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

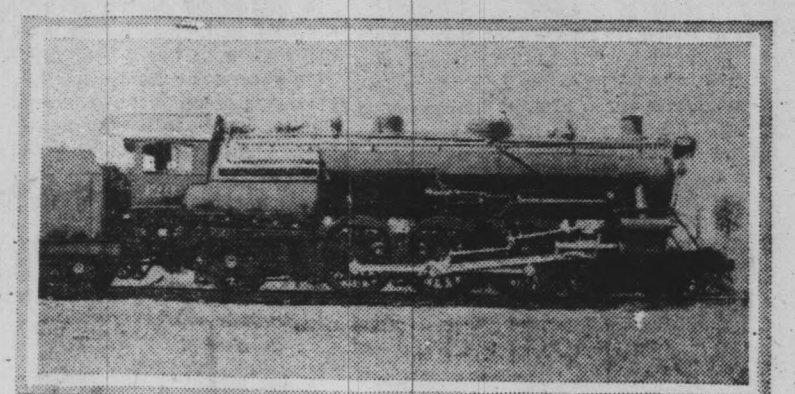

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, you get four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

Train Attains New Record For Speed

By PAUL H. EGOLF
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13.—Fifty-six and one-half miles in fifty minutes, with a train of twelve steel Pullmans, is the latest regularly scheduled speed record established by the world's speed laboratory—the Philadelphia-Atlantic City line of the Philadelphia and Reading railway system. The average speed of the latest "flier" is 67 miles an hour, a world's record far above its nearest competitor.

The "speed laboratory" is a stretch of track rarely found in the railroad world. In places there are long, straight stretches, all curves being under 1 per cent and the grades are negligible. In the run from Blue Anchor to Cologne, N. J., there is a stretch of eighteen miles in a mathematically straight line. Another straight run is seven miles in length.

For several years the Atlantic City Express has been credited the "fastest train in the world" by the encyclopedia, with a scheduled speed of sixty-one miles an hour. But that figure was printed before the creation of high-speed locomotives was given special attention.

One of the first attempts in the speed line was Engine 348, a product of the Reading shops. Combined with "Mike" Rattigan, a veteran engineer, and Dan Deviney, star fireman, she succeeded in lopping a few minutes off the running schedule.

With her performance as a basis, five new engines were recently built and are now running over the line, pulling the crack expresses to the shore and return.

Tale of Rattigan's Comet

So far Engine 120 has captured the title of "Speed Queen," and she works the 5:10 express, in conjunction with old "348." Rattigan personally gave his attention to "120" when she arrived fresh from the shops and spent some time "running her in" at slow speeds until her bearings were polished to mirror brightness for high-speed work. Then, one day recently, he "tried her out" on a special train.

ESKIMO SELLS FOUR WIVES VERY CHEAP

(By International News Service)

THE PAS, Man., Sept. 13.—What is the commercial value of a beautiful wife? The question has divided learned jurists through the ages. Court records of divorce cases throw no light on the question.

But Eskimoland has its own fixed rules. Take John Littlebear, for instance; John is a trapper. He resides in the frozen stretches to the north of the Brochetto fur post. John recently disposed of four wives in twelve days. All being especially beautiful, he received the top market price. Each wife brought one pound of tea and two plugs of tobacco.

"Dropping off ballast," was John's laconic explanation to interpreters. The trip has been longer than anticipated. John had promised his full set of wives their annual outing, but supplies ran short. There was a glut of wives and not a leaf of tea or tobacco. One by one the dutiful wives were dropped.

Purchasers, reports say, were fellow tribesmen returning from the fur post heavily laden with supplies. They had long admired John's handsome wives and were ready bidders. But under the rigid unwritten laws of Eskimoland the original owner may redeem his wives by payment of double the purchase price. En route home John will recover his property even at the risk of shattering new romances.

TAFT TO SPEAK AT BAR ASSOCIATION

(By International News Service)

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 13.—The first speech of William Howard Taft, after his appointment as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court was delivered here when he presided at the banquet of the American Bar Association yesterday. The invitation to preside and speak had been accepted before his appointment, but there is believed to be no impropriety in the proposed address now that he is the highest judicial officer in the United States. Cincinnati is Taft's former home.

FLASH ENDS RAIN PRAYER
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 13.—One man's meat is another's poison. Frinstance:

A pastor, tired of suffering from the continued heat spell, gathered his flock together and for three hours prayed earnestly for rain. Evidently his prayers were answered, for the rain came—and in torrents.

However, an electrical storm preceded it and a bolt of lightning, striking a manufacturing plant one square away from the church, started a $150,000 conflagration.

DARING BAILIFF SERVES WARRANT ON BEE HIVES

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 13.—"Oh, it's tough to sip the honey from the little honey bee," chirped "Big Bill" Donnelly, execution bailiff of the Municipal Court, the other day, when he received a writ to levy upon one hundred hives of bees as the property of Leo H. Benninghof, against whom a judgment of $379.24 had been obtained.

When Donnelly learned what he was up against—attaching one hundred hives of luscious, healthy honey makers in the full flush and warmth of their busiest season—he first hunted up a complete bee-levying outfit. It was home made and cumbersome, but "Bill" thought it might protect some of the more tender parts of his anatomy from the peevish workers. A heavy helmet, a face shield of window screening and a toga of heavy cloth—the bailiff had to practice hours before he became letter perfect in donning and wearing it.

Thus armed and equipped, he served his execution warrant. "I have met the bees and they are mine," was the only report he was willing to make upon his return.

JUDGE HEARS FROM PUBLIC REGARDING KABER SENTENCE

By WILLIAM O. HUSKE,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 13.—It isn't all beer and skittles—this thing of being a Judge. In fact, it isn't half or even one-third, if you should ask Judge Maurice Bernon, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, who presided at the trial of Mrs. Katherine Eva Kaber, "murder queen," now spending her life at the Reformatory in Marysville, Ohio, for having been the head of a conspiracy which resulted in the death of her former husband, Daniel F. Kaber, wealthy publisher, at his suburban home two years ago.

Judge Bernon, who delayed his vacation three weeks to hasten the trial of the "murder queen," has been attempting to rest up for the duties of the Fall Term at his home on Cleveland Heights, but persons dissatisfied with the verdict rendered and the punishment imposed have been telling the Judge, by letter and telephone, just what they think of him for sending such a person to a "pleasure resort," as the Reformatory has been called, instead of incarcerating her in the Ohio Penitentiary.

"Don't blame me. Talk to the Ohio Legislature," the Judge tells those—and their name is legion—who call him over the telephone.

When a representative of the International News Service called the other day he found the Judge immersed in reading a tremendous pile of mail.

"Look at this stuff," said His Honor. "This is a fair day's sample of what I get, although I believe, as the days pass and distant letter writers are heard from, there is a slight increase," and the judicial hand waved toward a pile of perhaps two hundred letters postmarked from nearly every State in the Union. Yes, and even Canada and Mexico.

Letter Brigade Uninformed—"And that's not all. The telephone—"

His Honor was called away by the insistent ringing of the bell of his phone even as he spoke.

"My dear madam," he explained through Mr. Bell's invention, "the strings were pulled to permit Mrs. Kaber to go to the Reformatory. The State Legislature passed a law in 1915 ordering all female offenders confined in the Marysville Reformatory."

"Yes, they're all sent there."

"No, I do not know that it is a 'pleasure resort.' I have never been there. What's that? A shame? Perhaps it is, but get after the legislators. I can only enforce the laws they write."

The Judge came back to the porch and continued:

"It's surprising how people blame me for what they call a 'miscarriage of justice.' Mrs. Bernon and I thought to spend a quiet vacation here, but I wish we had gone to the wilds, far away from the telephone and farther away from the mails."

"I do not attempt to answer the letters. There are too many. A few express sympathy for the woman, but the majority feel that undue leniency was shown."

Mountain climbing affects the temper. From 16,000 feet upward climbers are apt to get impatient and irritable.

CESSPOOL CONTRACT

Millicent Ends a Feud

By DOROTHY WHITCOMB

(© 1921, Western Newspaper Union.)

The night before my father died he called me to his bedside. He had become conscious at the end, after three months of speechless stupor, just as the doctor had anticipated.

"Milly," he whispered, "when I am dead you will have enough to live upon. I want you to promise never to sell the old homestead."

"I promise, my dear," I answered, and that was all. He seemed to have called himself back to life with one wild effort in order to get my promise. He died at four o'clock in the morning.

"Of course, you'll sell now, Miss Street," my friends told me, and they laughed when I announced my intention of refusing. So did Mr. James' lawyer when he called on me a few days later.

"Well, young lady," he said, setting down his hat and staring hard at me. "You can guess what I have called to see you about, I suppose?"

"Perhaps," I answered enigmatically.

"You know that for seven years Mr. James has been trying to get the Street homestead. The assessed value of your property is, I believe, four thousand dollars. Mr. James offers you fifteen thousand."

"He rose from four thousand to fifteen thousand in seven years," I answered. "But I wouldn't sell it for a hundred thousand. In fact, I won't sell it at all. My father might have sold once, although the homestead was naturally dear to him. But when Mr. James began his persecutions—"

"That was old Mr. James," interrupted the lawyer, frowning. "Mr. Cyprian James had, I admit, a vindictive nature. Mr. Harold James, however, is a fine gentleman. Mr. James is coming South to live, and wants your place for a shooting box."

"No," I answered. "It isn't for sale."

One morning a few days later I saw that a series of boards had been put up all around my little property in the night. I went down to look at them. There were ten in all, and each bore in large letters the words: "TRESPASSERS WILL BE PROSECUTED."

The road led from the garden through a mile of James' land to Hicksville. A man was waiting at the gate of the garden, and I hadn't set foot outside before he came hurriedly forward.

"I must ask you to go back," he said, taking off his hat respectfully. He seemed a gentleman, although he was dressed like a tramp. "You may not know that this is a private road. I must request that you step back upon your own territory."

"Indeed, I shall do no such thing," I replied angrily. "I utterly defy you and your old road."

I returned from town about an hour later.

I was very lonely. I had written to a girl chum to come down from Richmond and stay with me until I had decided upon my plans, but I had never contemplated being marooned. What if that wicked Harold James really meant to let me starve to death there? I wasn't too joyful when I awoke next morning.

I looked out of the window. Close to the gate, tied to a short stake by a very long chain, was the most savage-looking bull I had ever seen. He had his head down, and as I approached the garden gate he gave one bellow and began to paw the ground furiously.

I tried to compute the length of that chain.

I saw that he could not reach the garden.

Then I took heart again. The chain was too short. I could pass the bull with several feet to spare.

I felt so infuriated that, as I passed the snorting monster, I snapped my fingers at it. Next instant, with a roar, the creature leaped at me. And then—well, for the first time in my life I fainted.

I could not have been unconscious long, for when I opened my eyes the bull was feeding a short distance away, as peacefully as though it had never had thoughts of violence toward me. And the gamekeeper was bending over me, a look of agonized reproach upon his face.

"I didn't mean to do it—indeed I didn't," he was saying over and over again. "Won't you forgive me?"

"I suppose you have to earn your wages," I answered curtly.

"Are you engaged?" inquired the man, pausing.

"What business is it of yours?" I demanded.

"Because," he said, "I am Harold James."

"I might have guessed it from your actions," I answered.

And then Mr. Harold James suddenly caught hold of my hands.

"Millicent," he said pleadingly, "don't you remember how we used to be sweethearts when we were at school together and how you promised some day to marry me? I've been crazy over you ever since. Millicent, may I have a chance to win you?"

I could not help laughing.

"You may call on me next Wednesday evening, after my friend, Miss Jones, gets here," I answered.

Well, the Street homestead is still standing, and it will never be sold as long as I am alive. But it is used now mainly as a shooting box, for the James mansion is so much more convenient and comfortable.

WAR OFFICE FEARSOME PLACE

According to Captain Bainsfather, British Institution Is Designed to Be an Annoyance.

I have not been to the British war office very often, writes Capt. Bruce Bainsfather in "From Mud to Mud," but I have never lost the odd sensation that it gives rise to. You enter the building and fill out a form. In time a Boer war veteran tells you boisterously to "follow the girl." The girl, a guide of sorts in an engineer's dark brown overall, sets off sullenly down a cement passage, with a group of assorted officers pursuing. She, I fancy, revels in the intricacies of those catcombs.

Having apparently described a complete parallelism in a forbidding-looking corridor, you suddenly come upon a lift. It is always disappearing upward when you arrive. It comes down suddenly and disgorges an assorted crowd; headed by the girl guide, you enter and are taken up. We all repeat the corridor-and-parallelism business. Nothing but the girl guide can save you now.

Lost in the war office! How awful that would be! I can imagine how a visitor who had lagged behind the guide would stop, suddenly realizing that he was lost; how he would vainly beat on those stone walls and scream for help; how a typist would find his skeleton weeks later in an attitude that evidently showed that he had succumbed while endeavoring to gnaw his way through a door.

I followed the guide and, after being handed to several officials, at last came up with the official whose duty it was to prevent, if possible, anyone from seeing the officer who had summoned me by letter.—Youth's Companion.

TREASURE TROVE IN LONDON

Chance Discovery Has Led Antiquarians to Believe They Are on Eve of Rare Find.

A chance discovery of a piece of blue enamel, curiously marked, by H. S. Gordon, a London mining engineer, has turned a vacant plot, where garden truck was grown, into a treasure trove. Today diggers are busy digging and sifting every bit of the earth, believing that it is on the edge of an old Roman cemetery, used centuries ago.

Digging into one part of it the men say they can trace London's history by strata to thousands of years ago. It is estimated that London's level increased at the rate of one foot a century. Things appear to have been thrown into the place, which must have been a queer pit, as though it had been a place for refuse. Its rare treasures are mostly broken bits of jewelry, china, glassware, etc. One exquisitely carved ornament of pure gold, evidently part of a golden collar, was found, and is estimated to have been made between 400 and 500 B. C.

Some of the most interesting objects are broken pipes, a whole series ascending through nearly four feet of soil, illustrating the pipe's evolution from the days of Queen Elizabeth.

Swatting the Fly.

"Have you stopped swatting the fly?" asked Charles H. Taylor of the Boston Globe, who was here attending a meeting of the international arbitration board, an organization that settles disputes between printers and publishers. He was not addressing this question to the board, but simply making an observation as a swarm of flies rose from the street.

"I know that a year or two ago when I was here you were advising everybody to swat the flies, and the result was that you had comparative freedom from these pests. Now I notice that they have increased. In Boston we have repeated the fly swatting instructions until we are rid of flies. This is another case where eternal vigilance is required, but it produces results. I find flies in some of your restaurants and soda places, which, of course, Indianapolis will not long tolerate.—Indianapolis News.

Land and Water Ship.

The hippopotamus is now rivalled by an amphibious tank that travels equally well by land and water. It is a tank only in the sense that it originated in the fighting tanks of the war, for it is, as a matter of fact, a passenger vehicle. When ashore, it travels on endless tread wheels, and looks like a motorbus; when afloat, it is propelled and acts like a launch. It is the invention of a Frenchman, and was recently tested, carrying six passengers, in Marseilles, the great Mediterranean port. The French got around the difficulty of giving it an appropriate appellation by calling it a land and water ship.—Popular Mechanics.

Japanese Judicial Regalia.

Speaking of robes, that worn by the first judge of the Japanese Supreme court is a work of art and as heavy with embroidery as the vestments of the padres of the Little San German church in Porto Rico. The color is black and the texture fine. Around the neck is a collar, woven into the gown itself and not worn separately, as is the collar of the chief justice of England. The color of the embroidery of this collar is royal purple, and is called the "crest of the seven flowers of ponlowia." The cap, something after the order of the very smart sport hats worn by the American women, is also black, with a design of "clustered clouds" around the top and sides.—New York Tribune.

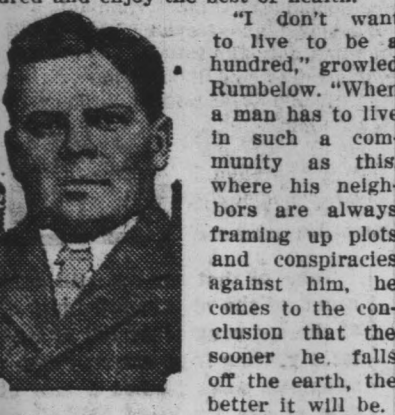

There is no word for strawberry in classical Greek, that fruit being practically unknown to them.

GREEKS BEARING GIFTS

"I UNDERSTAND that this is your birthday," said Traphagen, cordially, "and I have brought you a few cigars as a token of affection and good will. I hope you'll live to be a hundred and enjoy the best of health."

"I don't want to live to be a hundred," growled Rumbelow. "When a man has to live in such a community as this, where his neighbors are always framing up plots and conspiracies against him, he comes to the conclusion that the sooner he falls off the earth, the better it will be."

"You can take your cigars home and feed them to your cow. If you would give that beast enough to eat, she wouldn't be forever breaking into my back yard and eating the washing off the clothesline. The other day, I spent several hours cleaning up a lot of my old neckties. I went over them with gasoline and made them as good as new, and then hung them on the line to dry out. Your cow came over and ate every blamed one of them, for the ties were gone when I went out for them, and I could see her tracks along under the clothesline. If you want to make her feel comfortable, you ought to give her a handful of bone collar buttons and a few stickpins. Those neckties must feel lonesome, down in her old sheet iron stomach."

"I don't want any presents from my neighbors when I am celebrating a birthday or any other occasion. Last Christmas Bigelow came over and said he had just received some fine cigars from a friend of his who had a stogie ranch down in Cuba. Only kings and emperors ever had such smokes, he said, for the tobacco of which they were made was never put on the market, but supplied to a few private customers among the crowned heads. I took the cigars and thanked Bigelow in all the languages at my command, and made up my mind that he was a pretty good fellow, after all."

"In the afternoon, I went down to the postoffice, smoking one of those royal cigars. It certainly was rich. A few friends were standing with me in the lobby, and I began telling them of having received a present of some cigars of the sort reserved for the crowned heads. I felt pretty good over it, and the other fellows were envious, for the best they had were the two-fers you get at the grocery store. Just when I was all swelled up, and enjoying myself like a hired man at the fair, that cigar went off. There was a spiral spring about a yard long compressed into it, and when the cigar burnt up a certain distance, it was released, and flew out with a whirl. On this occasion it hit Absalom Jenks in the eye. He's a hasty sort of man, and he just naturally landed one on my nose before he had time to reflect that I wasn't to blame."

"I don't think I ever felt as silly as I did, standing there with three feet of twisted wire dangling from my mouth, and my nose pushed out of alignment. Those fellows I had been talking to seemed to think it was mighty funny, and the way they whooped around was disgusting. For three weeks after that, every man I met wanted to know if the crowned heads had sent me any more cigars, and I was arrested twice for disturbing the peace."

"Something of that sort happens every time you fellows begin to take a fatherly interest in me. Fessenden came over one day and said that the great problem of the age was saving fuel. Most of our money goes up the chimney, he said. Fortunately, he was on friendly terms with a great eastern scientist who had invented a powder that could save fuel, and this scientist had sent him some, and he wanted to throw a handful in the fire, and the coal would burn twice as long. I threw some into the kitchen stove, and I haven't found all the pieces yet. One of the oven doors must have been blown so high it never came down. So I tell you, I don't want any present from you. I'll buy whatever I need."

Not to Be Noticed.

"In the quiet of your home, don't you often hear a still small voice?"

"Not much; my wife hasn't got that kind."

Rattles Him, Too.

"The average lawyer fills me with admiration."

"In what way?"

"On account of the confident way he examines a man on a subject he has barely heard of, when the man has made it a life study."

Fine Cigar.

"Yes, these are genuine Havana cigars."

"Sell 'em everywhere, I suppose?"

"Well, we've never tried to sell 'em in Havana."

TRAGEDIES TRACED TO OIL

Pipe Lines and Overflows Responsible for the Deaths of Many Animals and Birds.

That almost unerring instinct which carries animals through grave dangers has led in many instances in the Midway and Sunset oil fields of California to their undoing. Chief among such victims are rabbits and water fowl.

A jackrabbit and a cottontail find a nice round, smooth hole. There are many such in the oil fields where oil piping is a necessity for the transportation of oil to the retainers. The rabbits decide to set up housekeeping there. The cottontail desires a permanent home and the jackrabbit wants a refuge safe from malevolent man.

Soon they discover their habitat is being moved. No doubt they are frightened, but they instinctively stay within their retreat. One end of the hole is closed. Even then they do not leave. Soon the other end of the hole is darkened. Then it is darkness eternal for the furry pair.

Some time later it is discovered that a newly laid oil pipe line is choked. After great labor the line is disjunctured and the remains of many rabbits removed. Thousands of rabbits have been thus exterminated in the oil fields.

The death rate among waterfowl is even greater. Again, as with the rabbits, instinct leads them to certain destruction. Every little lake of oil in the vicinity of a gusher is a trap for the unthinking birds. At twilight and dawn these tar-colored lakes appear as bodies of water to the deluded fowl.

LONDON HAS GROWN TOO BIG

Metropolis of the British Empire Is Loosely Knit Together, and Confusion Results.

Poor old London is so big that she doesn't know what to do. She has outgrown her administrative clothes and finds that her outskirts are sorely bedraggled. She hopes that parliament will come to her relief, but she has waited so long without anything being done for her and meanwhile has grown so outrageously that parliament is a bit dubious about undertaking the job.

London, you understand, is merely a name, and it may mean one of several things. No railway company sells tickets to London; they are careful to specify the exact station in that vast conglomeration indefinitely spoken of by that name.

There is first of all the City of London, the original London, built around the Tower and walled in for defense, a square mile of twisting streets and alleys, where business houses are built on old churchyards and the ancient church tower rises behind a five-story stone office building. Then there is the London of the 28 boroughs, the County of London, which includes the towns that grew up outside the ancient city. There are also almost innumerable suburbs.—W. K. Kelsey in the Detroit News.

Finest of All Languages.

There is no modern language to compare with the ancient Hellenic tongue. There never was a language its equal. As scholars have said, every other speech compared to the ancient Greek is stammering. Other tongues have their merits and defects, but the Greek has all the merits combined and none of the defects. It is the perfection of speech. As a language for affairs it is as direct as the English or Latin; as a language for philosophy it is as good as the German and for science is better; as the language of polite society it is as elegant as the French; and it is more melodious than the best Tuscan Italian. This is no eulogy (eulogy, by the way, is a Greek word of our own, but a summation of the dicta of scholars).—Exchange.

Bull Became Municipal Idol.

In 1835 a Barcelona bull became a municipal idol, the object of a regular Apis worship. When he had killed five men and ten or twelve horses, the yard around his stable was thronged with devotees, though his keeper, fearing foul play, would admit no stranger to the interior of the sanctuary. After his last victory, on the festival of San Antonio, the crowd went almost crazy with excitement under deafening cheers and a continual shout of "Bollo por el toro!" (Cakes for the bull); a libation of real came down like a shower, and when the victor was dragged out of the gate a young girl who had got a prize in a pantomime, leaned over the balcony, and at the risk of being impaled, crowned the gory brute with her own garland.

Britain's Bible Towns.

When a man is told to go to Jericho he might ask: "Which?" for there are at least a dozen in the world.

On large ordnance maps of England Paradise occurs five times and Nineveh, Mount Ararat, Mount Zion and Mount Ephraim three times each.

In the county of Bedford there is a Calvary wood, and in Dorset a Jordan Hill, not to mention the famous Quaker burial place in Buckinghamshire known as Jordans. Hampshire rejoices in a sleepy hollow called Land of Nod, Cambridgeshire has a Noah's Ark, and Worcestershire a Mob's Wash Pot. After that such commonplaces as Hebron, Joppa, Bethlehem, Gideon and Herod pass almost unnoticed. All the same, all are to be found in England.—London Tit-Bits.

INTERMEDIATE P. T. A. IS CALLED TO SCHOOL

The P. T. A. of the Intermediate school held a called meeting of its board of directors this morning at ten o'clock at the Intermediate school. The president asked a number of the ladies to come over at the opening of school to greet some of the new parents. The called meeting was held in order that plans might be formulated for the coming year. A regular meeting will be held a week from Wednesday, or the last Wednesday in the month.

The first matter taken up was that of providing curtains for the two offices. A committee of two was appointed to take care of this. They were Mrs. Rowley and Miss Noble, the principal at Intermediate. A motion was made to have 500 cards printed for distribution, showing the time for each P. T. A. meeting of the year. Plans were discussed for putting on a play early in the fall, also for having a couple of benefits at the local theatres. It was planned to have the children provide several programs during the school year, one about Thanksgiving time, and another sometime in February. They are also anticipating having a "father's night" and it is hoped that Mr. Koppel, the County superintendent may be present to address the fathers present. Mr. White came in and gave a very interesting talk on the cafeteria proposition. He considers it a P. T. A. job and asked that a committee be appointed to meet with Mr. Thatcher and himself. Mr. Thatcher has been cooking for the cafeteria for some time. A committee will be appointed later.

Mr. White reported that there is an increase of 108 pupils over last year at the beginning of school and that if this keeps up there will not be adequate room in the assembly hall.

Mr. White spoke about the bonding election. Papers are now being prepared so that they can call a bond election for $260,000. Mr. White stated that this may seem like a very large amount but they feel capable of raising $350,000, so do not think the amount asked for is too large. This bond election is to be called for October 11th, and will be for the erection of a school building at the corner of Glendale and Park avenues. This will relieve some of the congestion now at the Intermediate, and will be for intermediate pupils only. The committee appointed in charge of the bond election are: Mrs. Jefferson, Mrs. Hanning and Mr. Rowley.

CRUISE OF THE OAKOOPAY

(Being a 5,000 mile Vacation Tour of the Pacific States).

By CHARLES B. GUTHRIE
(Written Specially for Glendale Press)

To have crossed nine states in addition to British Columbia; passed through or visited 350 cities, towns and villages; crossed, paralleled or approached 75 different rivers; skirted or ferried dozens of large and small lakes; passed over, under and across forty mountain ranges and finally sweated and oozed through hundreds of miles of desert sand and rocks—may be said to constitute a vacation—and such we are charged with upon our return.

A vacation, 'tis true! But failing to comprehend the beauties of nature and absorb the wonders of the way removes the benefits of travel and offsets the bodily advantage derived from the great out-doors.

Geographically Speaking

Geographically speaking the cruise of the Pacific States knits into the mind an intimate knowledge of actual things, places and locations no book can depict. The geographical map of California outlines the things comprehended in the boundary of the state but no map tells of the sound of waters, the bracing air, the smell of the pines or the scamper of the chipmunk. No map shows the grade of the hills, the depth of the ruts or the surface of the road. What geography classifies is the hotels, camp grounds and good water? Will the books tell you of the wonderful chicken dinners of Washington, the trout lunches of Montana, or the boiled beef of Wyoming?

Can you feel the crisp chilly air of Yellowstone when you see the picture of Old Faithful? Does your foot press automatically on the throttle when the Cascades are pictured to your mind?

See America First

"See America first!" Seeing America first means nothing till you have first seen part of America, talked with natives of other parts of America and felt the throb of wanderlust in your veins. California is a wonderland; Oregon a marvel of beauty; Washington a paradise of grandeur; British Columbia a delightful vacation land; Montana a rough and rugged mystery; Idaho a big hive of industry; Wyoming a wild, untamed country whose edges turn up in fantastic marvels of nature seething and foaming and simmering through the ages; Utah a garden spot of beauty whose tropical sections breathe of home and pomegranates; Arizona, a corner only devoted to rolling hills of precipitate descents covered with rolling rocks of treacherous intent; another California whose gateway opens upon a vast expanse of parched and burning sands, rocks and hills.

The Western States

California, whose history runs to the dark ages, but whose fame commenced in '49; Oregon, the hunting ground of the early trappers in the days of John Jacob Astor and the rise and fall of Astoria; Washington, the terminus of the great trail, the goal of the Lewis and Clark expedition; British Columbia, half English and half American, striving to retain a semblance of English authority while strenuously reaching for the American dollar; Idaho, whose early history tells of rugged pioneers, the Nez Perce, the Flatheads, the Crows and the Blackfeet; Wyoming, not yet purged of uncouth days, rugged in her honesty but impertinent in her frank curiosity; Utah, gentle, refined and elegant, whose buildings, streets, farms and people bespeak a hospitality and a prosperity that soothes and quiets the rampant tourist; Arizona, just on the tour, here and gone, twenty miles of rolling rocks and arid air, not a memory but a nightmare; Nevada, shell and shadow of wild, hilarious days when the prairie dog's burrow was a prospect; California, the home, the mecca of the tourist; the ambition of the newlyweds, the hope of the has-beens, the desire of the destitute and the resort of the plutocrat.

Many Impressions

How many thousands of things leave their impress on the retina, on the tympanum, on the cerebrum, and on the heart. How many details forgotten for the present come to the surface in after days as something reminds. Herein is the value of a sight-seeing vacation. Time knows no individual, but preserves its treasures for the generations. Yosemite has been there for thousands of years, the giant red-woods of Fortuna have been climbing for ages, the mud volcano of the Yellowstone has belched its hellish vomit for unknown decades, the Valley of Fire in Nevada has been stolidly marking the completion of the world for time unlimited, but none of these made any impression on me until my eye gathered their image and my ear heard their noises. No man knows America until his eye has beheld, and his ear heard, the wonder of it.

The Glory of It All

Every man may see and hear but few will know the glory of it, none can behold, however, who does not the more reverence God. To some El Capitan is a boulder; the paint pot a curiosity; the Valley of Fire, red hills; Mount Shasta, a big hill; Mount Rainier, a snow bank; Crater lake, a pond; Rogue river, a creek; Natural bridge, a freak rock; Mormon temple, a big church; Great White Throne, a moun-

The regular monthly meeting of the Mary Jane Gillette Tent of the Daughters of Veterans will be held this evening at 111 East Broadway. All members are urged to be present.

Mrs. Arthur C. Brown of 201 West Milford street returned Saturday night from McKinley cabin at Roberts camp where she had been acting as chaperone for the cabinet of the Y. Y. C. A. at Whittier college. There were fourteen young girls in the party and work for the coming year was outlined. Mrs. Brown states that they had a very delightful time.

The J. O. C. class of the West Glendale Methodist church will hold a social and business meeting Friday evening at the home of Miss Sarah Holmer, 440 West Hawthorne street.

Mrs. Edward Seidell is building a new home at 1233 Viola street. At present she is camping on the rear of the lot.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Gillan and family of 203 West Maple street just returned from a two months' automobile trip to New York. They made the trip in a Ford and report a very delightful time.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Bennett, of 1114 South Central avenue have as their house guests for a few days, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morfman of San Francisco.

Neville Richardson, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Richardson of this city, motored to San Diego this morning with a party of friends who will spend several days there, at Hotel Coronado.

Mr. and Mrs. James Cunningham, of 1026 Florence Place entertained at dinner Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller, of Wilshire boulevard, and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Miller of Boyle Heights.

Mrs. C. D. Anderson, of 121 South Pacific, was taken to Glen Haven Sanitarium yesterday afternoon, to recuperate from heart trouble.

Mrs. I. H. Fallas and family, of 377 West Milford street, just returned from a trip to Big Bear lake where they spent the month of August. Mrs. Fallas is at present teaching vocal and piano at the Bible Institute, in Los Angeles, but contemplates opening a studio in Glendale, in the very near future.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Howe are now located at 541 Kenwood street. They are formerly from Stockton, California.

Mr. and Mrs. George Harrison and family, formerly of West Maple, are now located at 448 Arden avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Hubbard, of 451 Patterson avenue are at home after a two weeks' vacation, spent at Fern Lodge, in the Sierra Madre mountains.

Mrs. Charles Turck of 1013 South Glendale avenue, who has been indisposed for the past few weeks, is still confined to her home.

Mrs. W. L. Truitt and family have returned from a ten-day visit at Venice, where Mr. Truitt spent the week-end with them. They report a very good time, but also express satisfaction in the return to their pleasant home at 317 West Doran.

A. L. Ashton, brother of Mrs. Le Roy Bosserman, who has spent the summer in Glendale, returns to San Francisco tomorrow.

The Women's Guild of St. Mark's Episcopal Church will meet at the church Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, with Mrs. Le Roy Bosserman presiding. She reports several new members to be enrolled.

Mrs. William S. Porter has moved from her home on North Brand to the home of Dr. Julia Hill Crawford at 678 Iroia street, Los Angeles, not far from the Ambassador Hotel. Mrs. Porter has been in frail health for some time, but is improving and will be glad to see old friends.

Clarence G. Wilson, of the Blossom Bee Honey Co., left Monday for an extended eastern trip, which will extend to New York city. He expects to start home from the latter city some time in November.

tain of rock; and so on. Tourists, always, are of two classes—the one rushes here and there seeking sights to be able to tell some one afterward that he saw them, one who rushes up to the Morning Glory and exclaims—"well, what do you know about that—let's go." The other class, stares into the beautiful blue depths of the gigantic flower formed of a geyser pool and studies the formation, reflects on its origin and enjoys to the full the marvelous phenomena.

The one class tells of fearful roads, rotten grub and horrible beds; the other raves about the scenery and the wonders of nature. The one will soon forget—the other, never.

(Note—Other articles will follow giving in detail more of the trip.—Ed.)

WHAT YOUR NEIGHBORS ARE DOING

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Peirce and little daughter Patricia, of 317 West Vine street, returned Friday from a month's vacation at Manhattan beach. While there they had several guests, Mr. Peirce's mother and Edna Mae Paul, among them.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Cram, 354 West California avenue, spent last Friday at Mount Baldy. They motored up and took dinner at the hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. March of San Francisco, have been guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Cram, 354 West California avenue for the past week. They left Saturday for their home in the bay district, making the trip by automobile.

Charles DuBois, who has been making his home for the past four years with his aunt, Mrs. A. M. Beamon, 203 North Maryland avenue, is now living in Los Angeles and will attend the Southern Branch of the University of California.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Card, 319 Patterson avenue, accompanied by Mrs. S. Ruh and Miss Weeks of Hollywood, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hiller of Riverside.

Mrs. Frank J. Salmacia, 361 West California avenue, returned Friday from San Diego, where she has been spending a week.

Mrs. C. M. Sparr, 234 South Jackson street, spent last week with her son and family and her brother at Alamitos bay. She expects to visit them again next week for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Hall of Los Angeles were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Stephenson of 327 West Cypress. Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson returned Friday from a two weeks' vacation at Catalina Island. They report a very delightful time and that there are a great many Glendale people at the island at the present time.

Mrs. Irvin Bullock of 517 West Park avenue returned yesterday from Riverside, where she has been spending the past week with her sister. Mr. Bullock also spent Sunday at Riverside, both returning to Glendale on Monday.

A recent house guest of Miss Bessie D. Mock of 250 North Verdugo road was Miss J. Fortune Hobbs. Miss Hobbs will be remembered as a popular member of the younger set here two years ago, having come from Canada. Several charming affairs have been given in her honor during the past week, both here and in Hollywood. Before returning to her home in Fresno Miss Hobbs will spend a few days in Long Beach.

Mrs. Charles Temple of 145 North Orange street expects Mr. and Mrs. Albright and family, former neighbors, to arrive from Calexico for a brief visit. The Albrights lived in Glendale for several years.

Mrs. Mortimer Baker of 215 Milford street motored with a party of friends to San Gabriel yesterday.

SAMUEL LAWRY M'GEE

Funeral services for Samuel Lawry McGee, who passed away September 10 at the age of 74 years, will be held at the Little Church of the Flowers in Forest Lawn Memorial Park on Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. They will be conducted by Dr. Bruce Brown and will be in charge of the Jewel City Undertaking Company.

Deceased leaves a widow, Mrs. Anna L. McGee of 884 East Forty-sixth street, Los Angeles; two daughters, Mrs. R. D. Lawrence of Oklahoma and Mrs. H. H. Cox of Garvanza, also a son, N. C. McGee of Garvanza.

Phillip Wernette, who has been spending the summer at Catalina, returned to his home at 1330 North Louise street Monday. Having completed his two years' course at the University of California, Southern Branch, he has decided to take a year off before resuming his university work, but has made no plans for the period.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Orvis and their nephew, Ed Dristle, arrived in Glendale a few days ago from Syracuse, N. Y., having made the trip by auto in 20 days. They are staying with a daughter of the Orvisses, Mrs. Chester Rettberg, 539 South Verdugo road, until they can buy a home, for which they are diligently looking now. They sold their property in the east, intending to make Glendale their permanent home.

Miss Destel Tremaine, who has been spending the summer with her sister, Mrs. Edgar Lloyd Smith, 504 Fairmont avenue, returned to her school work in Wilcox, Ariz., last Friday. The younger sister of the two ladies, Miss Stella Tremaine, sailed for China a few days before, to become a missionary. She had been in Glendale for several weeks.

Mrs. Steven L. Delgado and daughter, Catherine, of 314 East Lomita avenue, returned Sunday afternoon from an all-summer visit with relatives in Toronto and elsewhere in eastern Canada, with a stop of a few days in Chicago. They say they enjoyed every minute of the visit but are nevertheless exceedingly glad to get back to Glendale, which looks better to them than ever before. Mr. Delgado had prepared a surprise by painting the house in their absence, changing the color from a dark brown to gray.

Miss Gertrude Du Bois, who was graduated from Glendale High and who made her home with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Beamon of this city, writes that she is pleasantly situated at Mills College, which she entered August 13. She is specializing in art.

Mrs. J. P. Fansett and daughter, Margaret, of 510 Vine street, left yesterday for the northwestern part of Illinois, where they will make their home for at least a year. Mrs. Fansett's mother is living there. Iland Fansett will make his home with the C. W. Ingledues of 501 East Wilson avenue.

Mrs. J. C. Bardsley of 344 West Burchett street, mother of Mrs. J. E. Rockhold of 330 West Burchett, was taken to the Glendale Sanitarium yesterday, where it is hoped that she may recover from her illness.

The Yeoman Lodge, Tropico Home-stead No. 3989, will hold a picnic Sunday at Brookside Park. All Yeomen and their friends are cordially invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Hellyer and family of 365 Milford street just returned from a two weeks' outing at Ocean Park.

"Mr. Gadsper, I understand you are going to run for office."

"It's all a mistake, sir."

"Indeed?"

"Yes, the fact that I've been getting my name in the paper quite often here of late is merely due to my interest in street paving, traffic laws, pernicious movies and one thing and another. I haven't the slightest intention of trying to capitalize my enthusiasm."

Johnny Wilson of Boston, and B. Ryan Downey, of Columbus, Ohio, who both claim the middleweight championship, put up a rather disappointing bout on Labor Day at Jersey City.

The fight went twelve rounds to no decision. The photo shows Wilson driving a right to Downey's face during a mixup in the third round.

John M. Ray of 369 Myrtle street, is returning home today from the Glendale Research Hospital. Mr. Ray met with a peculiar accident when he burst a blood vessel while moving a desk. He is much better now.

Mrs. N. L. Webster and daughter, Mrs. W. R. Sheridan and son, Webster R., of Corona, are visiting at the home of R. L. Webster of 318 West Harvard street.

Mrs. Mortimer Baker and Mrs. A. R. Hildreth of Milford street, and Mrs. G. F. Cornkrite, are going to spend a couple of days this week with Mrs. G. B. Burbach of Beverly Glen.

John McK. Henderson of 318 West Elk avenue, who was injured in an automobile accident over a month ago, is improving nicely and is able to be up and walk around a bit.

Mrs. Jack D. Hale of 134 North Belmont street is rejoicing over the birth of a grandson, born to her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. G. Burkhardt, of San Diego, on September 7. The new arrival has been named William Gilmore, Jr. Late reports indicate that mother and babe are doing well. Mrs. Hale left Glendale three weeks ago to be with her daughter.

Mrs. J. Swan of 110 South Bena way is able to be about in a wheel chair. She is at the Glendale Research Hospital.

Mrs. B. L. Cline of 134 North Orange street is confined to her home on account of illness.

Even If You Could "Coast" In the Old "Bus" EVERYWHERE

IT WOULD COST YOU MORE THAN PACIFIC ELECTRIC FARES

THE GAS you burn is only a small item in your total cost of operation. Add to that the cost of oil, rubber, repairs and depreciation in the value of the machine, and see "where you are getting off."

The Government says it is costing you from 9c to 14c per mile.

You can ride the Pacific Electric way for 3c per mile for the occasional journey and for about 1½c per mile for the frequent (commutation) trips.

"CAN YOU BEAT IT?" YOU CAN NOT!

Ask any Pacific Electric Agent for the Commutation Fare on tickets best adapted to your travel needs. He will show you the true way to travel economy, and you do not carry the accident risk.
